IS SUSPECTED OF MURDER

ROBERT WEST IS SUSPECTED OF SHOOTING

James Slamin, Who Died of His Injuries —He Had a Revolver and Burglars' Tools When Taken.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Robert F. West is under arrest at police headquarters on suspicion of being the man who did the shooting at the Back Bay, resulting in the killing of Coachman James Slamin and the wounding of John T. Lorden, on the evening of Dec. 5. Yesterday the man upon whom suspicion had rested for some time was located at 19 Tufts street, Charlestown. Upon being searched a 32-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver, a huge blackjack and a bunch of delicate skeleton keys were found upon him.

Thousands Are in Trouble.

Everybody has a cold. Why, it seems as if grip was striking into Lowell once again. Out in New York this strange and deplorable malady is making great inroads. If you know how to quickly and effectually break up a cold you'll pull through the winter all right. Dr. Hilton's specific No. 3 is the finest remedy yet put up, and to its efficacy hundreds of thousands in New England can testify. Every Lowell druggist keeps the remedy. Carry a vial in your vest pocket.

Catholic Union Meeting.

It is hoped that every member of the union will be present, as arrangements for the party which occurs next month, will be made. KEEGAN WAS HEAVILY FINED

DECISION GIVEN BY JUDGE HADLEY IN ILLEGAL VOTING CASE.

Witnesses for the Defence Were Not Credited With Giving a Correct Statement of Keegan's Whereabouts on That Election Afternoon.

When Judge Hadley had finished his dinner, yesterday noon, he sat on the Keegan case again and Patrick Fitzgerald, the second witness for the defence took the stand. On the afternoon of election day he met Keegan at his boarding house on Market street. They went up to precinct three of Ward One and stayed there until about three o'clock. They then went to Centralville by way of Broadway, Dutton, Market, Shattuck, Merrimack and Bridge streets. He was with Keegan from shortly after dinner until after five o'clock. At no time in the afternoon did Keegan go into Jackson hall.

During the cross-examination, Lawyer Kileski said to Fitzgerald: "Look at me; don't look at Mr. Donohue."

"Let him alone," replied the irrepressible Daniel, "he knows a work of art when he sees it."

"I guess he does, from the way he's been educated," said Kileski.

"The New York Sun isn't hooting him though," were Donohue's parting words.

Joseph O'Neil was in precinct one when the vote was challenged. He saw the man and thought he was much bigger than Keegan. He was quite sure it was not Keegan who was challenged.

Michael Mulligan, who was in precinct three all day, saw the man who was challenged. He was not Keegan. He was considerably larger.

Michael Crimmins told substantially the same story as did Fitzgerald. He went through a rigid cross examination.

This ended the defendant's case and Chief Davis was put on the stand by the government.

The chief related a conversation which he had with the defendant in which the latter said he couldn't remember any particular one who was with him in the afternoon.

Keegan acknowleged the fact in this conversation that he asked Pickup for work.

Edward Wesby, another employe of Mr. Pickup's, said that Keegan came there that morning and asked for work. There was fun when this witness was cross-examined for there was some slight suspicion of a religious feeling in the matter. During the examination of Fitzgerald, Lawyer Kileski brought out the fact that he is a member of the Wolf Tone Guards and Hibernians, and when Lawyer Donahue took hold of Wisby he asked him immediately if he was an A. P. A. He replied he had heard of them but was not a member "yet." He said: "What if I were is it any of your business?" The court then interposed and excluded the evidence including that relating to Fitzgerald.

Lawyer Donahue then made a lengthy argument of a forcible character, carefully reviewing the entire evidence. Lawyer Kileski followed with a strong argument.

Judge Hadley soon gave his decision, evidently putting little reliance in the witnesses for the defence. He imposed a fine of $150 on Keegan with a sentence of five months in jail.

SHUT OUT SMALL AUCTIONEERS.

Such the Plan of a Bill Now Pending in the Legislature.

A mild war has been begun in the ranks of the auctioneers of Boston and neighboring cities. The smaller auctioneers think they have good reason to fear an attempt on the part of the more wealthy and powerful auctioneers to freeze them out of the business.

They have already organized, under the title of the Auctioneers' association of Massachusetts.

The organization was perfected on Jan. 6, and the officers have since been taking steps to protect the interests of the members.

They have issued a circular which has been sent to about every auctioneer in Boston. It reads, in part, as follows: "A bill is pending before the present legislature making certain changes in the laws relating to auctioneers. The essential feature is to raise the fee from $2 to $500, without the powes of deputizing, and that no sales shall be held between sunset and sunrise.

"The auctioneers have organized, and ask your aid and cooperation in killing any laws that will compel the majority of auctioneers to lose their licenses."

They say that the horse auctioneers are the men who are at the bottom of the movement which they are going to fight, and the horse auctioneers say they are entirely innocent in the matter, and would not relish so big an increase in license fees.

SOME BAGGAGE CASES.

Girls in Court for Illegal Removal of Their Effects — Drunkenness Cases Disposed of.

Eight drunks.

Four were released.

Malvina Kirkpatrick has gone to the farm for four months. Mary Manning will do six months at jail.

Jennie Batchelder was arrested on a capias. She had been on probation for removing baggage and failed to appear in court. She was sent to the farm for vagrancy.

George Levasseur, an intelligent and well educated man with an uncontrollable appetite for drink, was sent to the workhouse.

Fred H. Kimball, who nobody knew, was charged with drunkenness and larceny of three pairs of shoes and a pair of overshoes from the store of Eugene Twitchell. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20.

Lizzie Barnes was in court for illegally removing baggage. This is one of "Pa" Sam Smith's cases. Smith is a man who runs a boarding house on Appleton street and who has many cases in court. Lawyer Donohue, for the defendant, promises an interesting case next Tuesday, when it will be tried.

The Simmons Divorce Case.

In the Superior court yesterday Judge Bishop heard the claims of the counsel in the Simmons divorce case. Charles Cowley for the doctor, who is a defendant in the police court for non-support, argued for an injunction to stop police court proceedings. W. H. Anderson, Esq., for Mrs. Simmons, argued against the claim and was sustained by the court.

The court also allowed Mrs. Simmons $30 for defending the divorce case. The non-support case will probably be heard Wednesday.

PEOPLE WASTE MUCH WATER

Some Pithy Points From Water Board Hand Supt. Thomas' Reports to the City Council.

The annual report of the water board gives considerable attention to the driven well plant. The expenses incurred by it for the year were $103,316, as against $211,901 for the previous year.

The total receipts on account of water works were $200,780, and the expenses $28,911.74.

The contract with the Cook company is given at length. The terms with the Hydraulic Construction company are that after the yield reached 2,000,000 gallons per day, the amount of the contract price shall be paid, provided the water is of the same quality as at present obtained. 24 wells are now in operation and the water is of a good quality.

The exact yield will be determined soon. There is a balance to the credit of driven wells of $75,524.

There is material waste in the present consumption of water, the daily consumption being 20 gallons per capita, which does not compare favorably with other well governed cities.

If we reduce the daily consumption to a reasonable figure we should have driven well water in every house in the city. The water meter is the only remedy for the waste.

Attention is called to the attempts made during the year to revise the ordinance relating to the water board allowing it more power which was defeated in the common council. The hope is expressed that the present city council will treat the matter more considerately.

The late Richard B. Allen who was a member of the board, is mentioned in eulogistic terms and the report closes by complimenting the citizens upon the excellence of its water works which equal any in the country.

Supt. Thomas' Report.

In the report of Supt. Thomas much importance is laid upon the need of a 5,000,000 gallons daily capacity filter plant. Of the water used daily 3,500,000 gallons are unfiltered.

Some Filthy Points.

In illustrating the use and misuse of meters the following instance is given: During the summer a number of meters were placed in property without the knowledge of the owners. The results showed that one property of five tenements was paying $45 a year for water, which, if metered, would have cost $33.69, while another of the same number of tenements was paying $40.50 a year for water worth, metered, $164.88.

The board thinks that the city should own all water meters and do all ordinary repairs. While it believes in a universal meter system, it recognizes that it must be introduced gradually.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

The Cotton King concludes a very successful engagement tonight.

Prince Pro Tem returns here Tuesday and Wednesday, with the same excellent cast which took Lowell by storm a few weeks ago. Fred Lennox will play as Tommy Tompkins and Josie Sadler as Wild Rosy.

Nobody's Claim.

The last performances of "Nobody's Claim" at Music hall will be given this afternoon and evening. The attraction for next week is "East Lynne" for the first part of the week, and "O'Day the Alderman."

This is No Bluff.

It is strange that people will pay high prices for hardware, when Callahan & Sanborn, the hardware dealers of Merrimack square undersell all their competitors. The firm carries an immense stock and they estimate that in comparison with other Lowell dealers they are 10 to 30 per cent. lower.

HOW CAN THEY DO IT?

This question has been asked frequently of late by people who purchase fine clothing at Chalifoux's for prices barely covering the cost of the cloth. The fact is, the secret of Chalifoux's ability to sell for less than actual value

Is No Secret At All.

There is nothing startling or mysterious about it whatever. Only the powerful factor of modern merchandising, such as buying for spot cash entire stocks from manufacturers for about one-third to one-half regular prices and then offering them to the consumer for a quick turn at a very slight advance.

Come in and See for Yourselves.

PLAYING FOR GOALS.

Hot Contest at Basket Ball in the Armory Tournament — Ambulance Corps Lose Another Hard Fought Match.

Basket ball was hot stuff last night at the armory in the game between the Ambulance Corps and the Mechanic Phalanx. Some said it was a rough game but little blood was spilt, although the players were mixed up repeatedly, and the tactics and interference were similiar to those in foot ball.

An hour before the game started the gallery was filled with ladies, and when the game started the crowd was the largest yet, in fact at times the crowd under the gallery was so large that it interfered with the playing not a little.

Capt. Wenden of the Phalanx won the toss and Soule who played with the Corps took the ball. The first dash was tame and in four minutes the Phalanx caged it by Tuttle. They followed this performance by another goal.

Then the Corps forced the work and quickly tied the score. The half ended with the ball in the center.

The second half was even more exciting than the first and clinching was a tactic resorted to by the Phalanx repeatedly. The goal first secured by the Corps was tied by the Phalanx making the total 9 to 9. Then the Phalanx got a snap goal unexpectedly owing to the ball getting in the crowd and being returned to the open space and caged without the interference from the Corps who thought the whistle had been blown. The final score was 18 to 9, or 6 goals to 3.

The cheering was pretty vigorous at all times but the Corps was clearly outplayed.

The line up was as follows:

C Company.	Position.	Ambulance.
Ashworth	home	McGurdy
Royal	f.	Paige
Tuttle	f.	Walker
Wenden	center	Soule
Colby	b. c.	Cahill
Varnum	c.	Raymond
Livingston	goal	Foss
Berry	g.	Myers
Heath	g.	Gilbert

Standing of the Clubs.

	Games won.	Games lost.	Goals won.	Goals lost.
Putnam Guards	2	0	11	2
Phalanx	2	0	11	3
Ambulance Corps	0	2	3	11
Cadets	0	2	2	11

Notes of the Game.

The Phalanx appear to be the heaviest team.

It will be Greek against Roman when the Puts and Phalanx meet. Look out for trouble.

The players who cry out the loudest about rough play are generally the ones who play the roughest with their opponent.

Some players will deliberately trip up a man and then swear he didn't.

Loss of temper leads to some disagreeable side play, as witnessed once last night.

A system of penalties for fouls will soon be needed.

Co. M wants to enter and sent a representatives to last night's meeting. This will necessitate a re-arrangement of the schedule. Under the old one the Cadets and Corps were to have played Monday night.

THE DUTY OF DEMOCRATS.

In the Contest for the Presidency of the Council.

The friends of Councilmen Mansfield and Garvey claim either can be elected president of the council if they get the twelve democratic votes. If this be so why not give them the twelve votes each for a few ballots and see whether a democratic president can be elected in this way.

If there is any means by which the democrats of the common council can elect a president it is incumbent on them to try it at the earliest opportunity.

DEATHS.

WILLSON — Hubbard Willson, senior member of the Cordaville Woolen company, Westboro, Mass., died Friday. He was a native of Northumberland, N. H., and the 15th of a family of 17 children. In September, 1819, he moved to Lowell, and in 1847 became overseer in a cotton factory. In 1866 he went to Cordaville to conduct a woolen mill for a Boston company; he afterward became a partner in the Cordaville Woolen company.

AN ALLEGED DETECTIVE.

Says He is Looking for a Lost Girl.

A man giving his name as Samuel Grant of Marblehead, stopped at the Farragut house last night. He claimed to be a detective in search of a niece, a girl about twenty years of age, named Snow, who left Lynn yesterday morning and is supposed to have eloped.

Mr. Grant registered as Mr. Hiller of Marblehead. He wears a special police badge and said he was appointed justice of the peace by Gov. Greenbalge, and that he carries police badges for his own use. He can put one of these badges upon a civilian and demand him to do his bidding under penalty of the law, so he says.

As Mr. Hiller, alias Grant, told a very improbable tale and wanted credit at the hotel, the writer did not regard him as an authorized detective and thought the story of the lost girl was a fake. He said he had notified the police to be on the lookout but Inspector Allen knew nothing of the case.

Ready For '95.

The High School Foot Ball team of 1895, held a meeting Thursday and organized by electing Cecil Adams, manager, and Arthur H. Tuttle, captain. Capt. Tuttle played on the '92, '93 and '94 teams and is well up in strategy as applied to the game. Ed. Noyes has made an efficient manager the past year.

Ladies to Go Sleighing.

The Ladies of the G. A. R., at their meeting last evening, talked about a sleigh ride to Chelmsford Center, to Mr. Caverley's residence in the near future. The national president made a visit here, Thursday.

He Wants a Hearing.

THE BAY STATE LEGISLATURE

QUINCY ASKS FOR A COUNTY COURT HOUSE.

The Heating of Street Cars Engages Attention—The Committee on Taxation and Foreign Corporations.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—A bill was introduced in the senate extending the time within which exceptions may be filed in the supreme judicial and supreme courts from three days, as now, to 20 days; also a bill make the judgments of police, district and municipal courts prima facie evidence on appeal in the same manner as an auditor's report.

Petitions were presented for legislation to provide for a county courthouse at Quincy, to cost $70,000; relative to legislation for contempt of court and providing that all courts shall have power to punish by fine (not to exceed $100) or imprisonment (not to exceed 30 days) contempts of their authority, provided that such power to punish shall not be construed to extend to any criminal act or misdemeanor, punishable under information or indictment, or to any cases except misbehavior of any person in their presence or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice; that county commissioners be allowed to release truants on probation or transfer them to private families; that no business before county commissioners, in which opposing parties appear, shall be determined unless there are three disinterested commissioners present and acting.

Bills introduced: Providing for heating street cars in November, December, January, February and March to a temperature of not less than 60 degrees; raising the age of consent to 18 years; to regulate steam engineering and requiring engineers to be examined and procure licenses; to provide for the preservation of public records by the use of a standard ink; to more effectually protect manufacturers from the use of counterfeit labels and stamps, the word "label" so include impressions made on leather, soap, tobacco, etc., and also marks woven into textile fabrics; providing that insurance contracts once made shall not be cancelled during the term for which they are written, unless by the mutual consent of both parties interested; extending the authority of the commissioners of inland fish and game to the propagation, protection and preservation of birds and animals "in like manner as to fish."

The committee on taxation was, by request, discharged from further consideration of the bill requiring foreign corporations to send a list of shareholders to the tax commissioner for purposes of taxation, and the matter was referred to the mercantile committee.

America's Wool Center.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin prints today a statistical review of the wool trade of the world. In the volume of transactions for the last year, London stands first; Buenos Ayres, second; Boston, third, and Sydney, fourth. Of the American markets, Boston is first, with sales of 160,000,000 pounds. Boston sold seven times as much domestic wool as New York. The capital backing the Boston trade aggregates $50,000,000. The first result of free wool on American markets has been to increase Boston's commerce. The Hub's lead is largely due to the fact that Massachusetts is the largest consumer of wool in her mills of any state in the Union, and that New England contains more than half the combing and carding machinery in the country.

Only Three Rounds.

CONEY ISLAND, Jan. 19.—The attempt of Jack Dempsey, the once famous Nonpariel, to give battle to Tommy Ryan last night was a disheartening and disgusting exhibition. Dempsey was never in the game. His actions were those of a drunken man. The crowd clamored for a cessation of the fight, and at the end of the third round the decision was given in favor of Ryan. The bout was announced for 15 rounds.

Druggists to Be Sued.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 19.—Quite a sensation has been created among the druggists of this state. A New York man has instituted suits against some of the leading druggists for handling a medicinal preparation which the moving party claims is an article patented in Germany and this country, and the article used by respondents is an imitation.

Tranquility Reigns.

ATHENS, Jan. 19. — Formal denial is given to the reports that a rebellion had broken out in Greece. The country is everywhere perfectly calm.

Will Leave Government Post.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—It is reported that M. Herbette, French ambassador to Germany, has resigned.

U. S. TREASURY

The Receipts Expected to Be Largely Increased.

Lively Row in the House on Pension Questions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — The heavy withdrawals of gold for export from the sub-treasury at New York, yesterday, were not wholly unexpected by the treasury officials, as the indications since the first of the week have made it probable that the withdrawals for shipments today would be exceptionally large. Nevertheless, yesterday's transactions have intensified the fear of another bond issue, and in a measure dampened the spirit of hopefulness that has pervaded the treasury department for some days past.

It is, however, stoutly maintained that the record for the present fiscal year will show a decided improvement in the financial condition of the treasury over that of last year, and the steady increase in the receipts from customs and internal revenue sources, it is pointed out, gives promise of a speedy return to a period when the receipts will more than equal the expenditures.

It is figured that the customs receipts are sure to make a decided advance after Feb. 1, when the spring importations begin, and that the revenues from whisky withdrawals the remainder of the year are almost certain to reach a point even above the normal. With the sugar bounty burden of $12,000,000 a year removed, and the prospect of receipts from the income tax amounting to $20,000,000 or more before June 1, a more hopeful condition of affairs, it is said, is confidently to be looked forward to.

The interest payments on the public debt between now and the first of the coming fiscal year will aggregate about $14,000,000, and yet only about $2,500,000 of this amount (interest on the late $100,000,000 bonds issue) is in excess of the interest payment of last year. Mr. Carlisle's estimate of a deficiency of $20,000,000 for the year, notwithstanding the fact that it has already reached $37,000,000, it is believed, will be found to be approximately correct.

Last year at this time the expenditures exceeded the receipts by over $37,000,000, while for the same period in this year the deficiency is about $27,000,000, or over $10,000,000 less.

With the single exception of the month of April next, when a large interest payment becomes due, it is confidently expected that each month after this, during the remaining five months of the year, will show an excess of receipts over expenditures.

On Sherman's Lines.

Representative Walker of Massachusetts has introduced a bill similar to that proposed in the senate by Senator Sherman on the financial question. Representative Walker's bill, while on the same general lines as the Sherman bill, differs in details. It authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue proposals from time to time for four years' bonds, such as are described in the act of July 14, 1870, to authorize the refunding of the national debt, the bonds to be payable at the pleasure of the government after one year from date of issue and upon the expiration of three years, or bonds payable after three and upon the expiration of seven years, or bonds due on a certain day within three years from the date of such bonds, the secretary to have the selection regarding the term of the bonds. The bonds are to bear interest not exceeding 3 per cent.

The North and South.

There was another big row at the night session of the house last night, which grew out of the events which transpired last week. Feeling ran high and bitter words were spoken.

It started after the failure of an effort to increase the pension of the widow of General Abner Doubleday and to pension another widow who had performed services as voluntary nurse during the rebellion. Both bills were blocked by the obstruction of Jones (Dem., Va.). Cooper (Dem., Ind.) resented this and turned on Jones savagely, and with much temper he charged him with lack of chivalry in assaulting the fair sex.

Jones absolutely denied that there was any foundation for the statement that he was fighting women. "All I am fighting for," said he, "is against the granting of large pensions to the rich, powerful and influential."

"I question the motives of the gentleman from Virginia," retorted Cooper, hotly. "I believe he is actuated by the sentiment expressed by him last Friday night, when he said he was proud of the cause he had fought for in the trenches. Although he has taken an oath now to support the flag that floats above your head, Mr. Speaker (pointing to the American flag above the speaker's desk), he now displays toward it the same spirit of opposition he did when he struck at that flag 30 years ago. I have a right to say it, because he himself has said it."

Simpson (Pop., Kan.), Cox (Dem., Tenn.) and Moses (Dem., Ga.) were drawn into the controversy. Feeling run high, and it looked as if a personal encounter might occur. Simpson continued to taunt Jones, declaring that he was not only surprised, but ashamed that a man should come from the south and say that he still believed in the lost cause.

Talbert (Dem., S. C.) at last came to Jones' rescue. He was white with rage, and while deprecating the continued appeal to sectionalism, asserted that such appeals usually came from men who were invisible in time of war and invincible in time of peace. "As to the 'lost cause,'" he said, "it is the everlasting cause, and never can be lost."

Jones got the floor just before the time for adjournment was reached. He branded Cooper's language toward him as language unworthy of a gentleman. "I want to say," he added, "that when the question was asked me last week I answered that I was proud of the lost cause. To say I believe every cause right was a slander. I always said and maintained overmore, as I do now, that the cause was right." At this point the hour of 10:30 p. m. arrived and the house stood adjourned under the rule. Had the debate lasted much longer it would probably have resulted in a personal combat.

The senate passed the army appropriation bill, carrying $29,000,000, and the bill which in effect advances General Schofield, in command of the army, to the rank of lieutenant general, held by General Sherman and Sheridan.

THE SUN Job Print leads them all. Try us.

Our store will be closed Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings until March.

As sizes disappear and lines become broken, we get the scattered goods together, make one lot of them and reduce prices to a uniform figure to close out.

In our large stock this has to be done about every week.

Today, for example, we've taken half a dozen lots of Men's Suits from Rogers Peet & Co., marked them $15, including at this price suits that have sold for eighteen, twenty and twenty-two dollars.

There are all sizes, from 34 to 42 in. breast measure, but not all of one kind.

It's an uncommonly good chance to get the best clothing at moderate cost.

THE ANNUAL meeting of the Carpet company last week showed a loss of $33,600 chiefly from a shrinkage of wool. With free wool the company should soon be able to retrieve this loss. If it had not kept its works idle so long its loss might not have been so heavy.

EX-MAYOR PICKMAN seems to have a lighter step as he walks along the streets since the weight of executive responsibility was lifted from his shoulders. If office-holding has its honors and emoluments, it has also its cares and responsibilities which cannot be shifted.

GOV. GREENHALGE demands better police protection in country towns. Let mounted officers be put on patrol in unprotected districts and there will be fewer burglaries, fewer carriages stolen and fewer bank defaulters allowed to escape by carriage along country roads.

YOU CAN rely upon THE SUN to give you the news of Lowell and whatever is of real importance elsewhere. It does not pad its columns with stuff which is of no interest to the public. You can get the news in THE SUN without spending valuable time in searching for it; and besides it is futile to search a paper for what it does not contain.

GOV. GREENHALGE can cover himself with glory by standing firmly against the pardon of the railroad officials who violated the law by causing a riot at Abington. To free them will be to interfere with the just sentence of the law. It will be an unjust discrimination and will prove that justice cannot be dealt out equally to all in Massachusetts. Will the governor leave himself open to that charge? That is what the people want to know.

THE NEW president of the French republic is above all a man of business, a millionaire ship owner who has distinguished himself in parliament by his great foresight and sagacity on business questions. His election will probably effect a reform in the tariff or a reduction in protective duties. He enters office with the enmity of all the disturbers, socialists, radicals, revolutionists, monarchists and others. He will have to rule with a firm hand to restrain such opposition within proper bounds.

IT IS a considerable time since Simon B. Harris got his leg pulled as he did in Little Canada while trying to walk into Cyrille Constantineau's drug laboratory. Cyrille's clerk claims to know his business and Simon B. Harris claims to know his. Simon was going into that laboratory on business when the clerk as a mere matter of business thought of shutting the door and jammed Simon's leg. Simon came away without evidence to sustain a case and no doubt a certain clerk is singing the popular song for "One of His Legs is Longer Than it Really Ought To Be."

IT IS clear the democrats of congress cannot pass a currency bill in the face of republican opposition. Senator Sherman has drafted a bill which may form the basis of a compromise between both parties. It authorizes the issue of five year, 3 per cent. bonds, the employment of the proceeds either for current expenses or for the redemption of United States notes. It also authorizes the issue of 3 per cent. coin certificates in small denominations to meet the popular demand and permits national banks to issue notes to the par value of the bonds deposited for circulation. After discussion some of the provisions may be altered or dropped but the whole measure serves to offer acceptable ground for a compromise between all the financial factions. Something of the kind should be done for the relief of the treasury.

SOME OF the would be reformers of Boston want a legislative committee appointed to investigate the administration of Boston affairs during the past year. There is no specific charge of corruption but the whole is done by cheap imitators of Parkhurst and Lexow.

NINETEEN BALLOTS and no choice. There may be 999 and no choice. The republicans imagine they will persuade some democrat to vote with them for president but they will be disappointed. There are no democratic cuckoos this year.

THERE IS to be a great contest between steam and electricity in New Hampshire. The steam railroads are using all their influence against the construction of electric lines.

Lowell's common council should put on the gloves and settle its difficulties that way, if in no other—Lawrence Sun.

How They Are Caused and Avoided In Window Tight Rooms.

Several years ago in the fall of the year I was sick for weeks, and when at last I was able to sit up I sat in my sitting room, which faced the northwest, during the daytime, and wishing to see the passing I had my place near a large window. The room had an open grate, also furnace heat, and the thermometer easily registered 70 to 75 degrees, but with all this warmth there was a draft, as I thought, on on my head and neck.

Every one said the cold air came in at the window sash. I sent for the weather strip man, and of course he discovered, or thought he did, the cause and put on his rubber molding so that the sash when closed was tight.

"Now," he says, "you will have no more trouble in that direction."

The next cold snap the same old gale of wind appeared. When my doctor came in, I spoke to him in regard to it, when he informed me that it was not the cold air from outside that I felt, but the warm air of the room, which went to the top of the window, struck the cold glass, cooled and then "fell down" as the cold air would had not the casing been airtight. He then said, "Drop your curtain about one-third and keep it there."

I did as he directed, and the gale stopped, and I had no trouble after that. He told me that the same trouble existed in most houses, even those that were well heated in the halls and bedrooms, the heat going to the top, cooling and falling back, so that one coming from a warm room down stairs and going up would often think that there must be windows open above. Of course double windows would remedy this cooling off process in the rooms, but with the curtains down a little they prevent the instant cooling of the warm air, and there is your draft. You will notice that these "drafts" are about during the day more than at night and always less in the room where there is a lamp. Why? Simply when you light your lamps or the gas you draw down the shades, and the heat does not strike the cold glass.—Boston Transcript.

DIRECTIONS IN MEASUREMENT

SIMPLE AND SURE WAY TO MEASURE AN ACRE.

Computation Useful and Available—How to Kill a Horse—Treatment of Toothache and Deciduous Teeth.

It is desirable—in fact, indispensable—for good work that a farmer should know how many acres are in his field. Otherwise he cannot apportion seed or manure for it, nor can he tell how much time it should take to plow, harrow or cultivate it. A good cotton cord, the size of a plow line, should be kept for this purpose. To make one, buy 67 feet of cotton rope an inch round, fasten a ring at each end and make these rings precisely 66 feet apart. This is four rods. Tie a piece of red rag in the center. One acre of ground will be a piece four of these cords long and 2½ wide, equal to 16 by 10 rods, making 160 square rods to an acre.

The advantage of the rings is that one person can measure also by driving a stake in the ground to hold the rope while he stretches it out. The rope should be soaked in tar and then dried. This will prevent its shrinking.

Last year a neighbor of the writer had a heavy sod plowed by contract at $2.50 per acre. Three persons stepped it off. One said it was four acres, another made it a little over five, and the third said it was 3½ acres. The contractor sent over and got this rope, and all five men measured it, and it was found to be just 3½ acres. He had paid to have the grass cut off it for three years $1 per acre, or $5 each season, counting it to be five acres in extent, thus losing $4.50 through ignorance.

Get a measuring line, and when not in use put it away, so that the hands cannot get at it, or they will be very apt to cut a piece off it to tie up harness, thus making it worthless for measuring purposes.

How to Kill a Horse.

The Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has issued a card showing how horses may be killed scientifically. The information is especially for policemen, who are ordinarily called upon to dispose of sick or suffering animals.

To shoot a horse so as to kill it instantly it is only necessary to aim so that the bullet will enter the brain by passing through a spot in the middle of the forehead above the eyes. The card issued by the society bears a drawing of a horse's head, showing the exact spot.

How to Treat Toothache.

It is hard to cure a bad toothache of several days' continuance. A hypodermic of morphine only postpones the evil day, and usually the patient is respectfully referred to the dentist. The tooth should not be extracted while the jaws and gums are inflamed and the latter swollen, and it is the physician's duty to treat the case until the above conditions are removed.

Always keep a small vial containing the following mixture: Chloroform, gtt. x.; glycerin, gtt. x.; sat. sol. ac. carbol, gtt. x.; morphine, gr. j., with a small wad of absorbent cotton. If the offending tooth has a cavity or decayed surface, saturate a small pellet of cotton with the above mixture and put into the cavity or against the decayed surface, as the case may be. Never pack the cotton in, or the greater will be the trouble, but have the pellet small enough to enter without crowding. In most cases this will end the trouble. When the gums are swollen and tender, paint two or three times, two minutes apart, with a 4 per cent solution of cocaine.

The patient may have been eating a good deal of fruit. The tongue and mucous membrane of the mouth are pale, with sour stomach, and the next day the toothache will return.

Give ten grains of subcarbonate of bismuth and ten grains of phenacetine at once, and a similar dose before each of the three following meals, with a laxative, if needed, and stop all fruit for a few days, and it will not return. The same powder every two hours, with cessation of fruit eating, will stop the persistent, tormenting neuralgias.

How to Cream Butter and Sugar.

When using a spoon or whisk for beating, take long upward strokes, the more rapid the better. The spoon should touch the bottom of the bowl each time, and the motion must be regular. Another way to beat it is to use a circular motion. In this case the side of the spoon is kept close to the side of the bowl. The spoon is moved rapidly in a circle, carrying with it a portion of the ingredients. This kind of beating can be applied only to a very thick mixture. It is the best method for creaming butter and sugar.

How to Care For the Deciduous Teeth.

The child receives its first temporary tooth about the fifth month after birth, the dentition being completed at the age of 2 years. These teeth should be cleaned with a soft brush and warm water. The child usually retains these teeth until the eruption of the permanent set, the first permanent tooth appearing about the sixth year. The deciduous teeth should be carefully watched, and when a tooth shows decay consult your dentist and have it filled. At this stage the filling is not expensive and will save the child much pain and trouble from an aching tooth. The early extraction of the deciduous teeth often causes the irregularities of the permanent set. They should be retained until the jaw has fully expanded to receive the permanent teeth. Teach the child the necessity of keeping the teeth clean and pure. The early use of the toothbrush will establish a habit that will, in after years be considered a necessity to health and personal cleanliness.

How to Estimate Etiquette.

Nice manners are invaluable. The charm of politeness cannot be overestimated. True etiquette is inborn. It is rarely acquired in mature life. Old men and women who try to become gentlemen and ladies have some sad lessons to learn. Only born gentlemen and gentlewomen realize the importance of good manners at home on all occasions. Boys and girls reared in a family where company manners prevail all the time, and where each is considerate of all the others' feelings and thinks of his comfort last, will never outgrow them.

OPEN REBELLION

TWELVE RIOTERS KILLED BY THE MILITIA.

Internal Conflicts Threaten the New Born State.

HONOLULU, Jan. 11.—There were no fresh developments in the threatened uprising here until last Sunday afternoon (Jan. 6), when Deputy Marshal Brown and a squad of police under Captain Parker left for Waikaikai with orders to search the premises of Henry Bertlemann, a prominent royalist, for arms and ammunition.

On arrival there, Parker proceeded to read his warrant. When half way through, a volley was fired by a crowd of natives under a shed in the rear of Bertlemann's house, and Charles Carter and Lieutenant Holie fell wounded. The police charged and drove the natives out, when the latter retreated to the brush, keeping up a desultory fire. As the police only numbered eight, and there were three or four times as many natives, they returned to the house, taking with them three of the rebels whom they had captured in the melee, during which some 60 shots were fired.

The rebels surrounded the house again, firing into it repeatedly. Leaving one man to guard the prisoners, the officers returned the fire, but without effect, as it was dark and their assailants could not be seen. Realizing that their case was desperate and that word must be got to town at all hazards, it was decided that Brown and Barker should make a dash for their horses, which were tied near the house. This was done with success, and they were soon at the nearest telephone.

Volunteers to the Front.

Within two minutes after receiving the telephone account of the fight, a detail of 32 men from the regulars stationed at the government headquarters were ordered out. The command was given to Lieutenant King. Volunteers were called for, and nearly every man in the barracks stepped to the front. As soon as they came within shooting distance of the scene of action the natives fired a parting volley and fled.

Soon after the deputy marshal came up, and the premises were thoroughly searched. The Japanese servant brought to light several pistols and revolvers.

At daylight a large force of natives, who had taken up a strong position on the slope of Diamond Hill, attacked King's forces. After standing fire about an hour and finding the natives had the advantage of numbers and position, King moved his forces to San Souci, a pleasure resort with telephonic communications. Shortly after the telephone was used Lieutenant Coyne and 25 more regulars were sent. The number of insurgents were variously estimated from 1 to 200. With Coyne's force was sent an 8-pound field piece. President Murray of the Citizens' Guard, with 25 mounted policemen, went out into a road leading toward the insurgents. The first intimation that Murray's force had of an enemy was a shower of bullets which did no harm. Had the natives waited a little longer Murray's forces could have been annihilated.

This fight occurred on the side of a mountain, where a seriated side forms an almost inaccessible valley of little width. It was the object of the government troops to drive the rebels around the base of the mountain, from which there could be no escape, except over the famous Paoli road, which 10 or 12 men could hold against a small army.

Martial Law Proclaimed.

On Monday morning martial law was proclaimed and all saloons were closed. The news of the death of Carter, who was a popular young lawyer and was recently elected a member of the legislature, intensified the general feeling, and it would have gone hard with the assassins had they not been strongly guarded.

By noon all the stores were closed and there were few people on the streets. The street cars and busses were stopped, and the only excitement was at the marshal's office, where arms were being distributed. All persons not engaged in the military or police forces were commanded to deliver all arms or ammunition in their possession to the marshal within 24 hours.

After conferring with Captain Murray, Captain Zeigler and a company of regulars were dispatched to his aid, taking with him one Australian field piece. The troops advanced and forced the rebels into the brush. It is certain that many of them were wounded. The only man wounded on the government side was Captain Ludwig. Then the first prisoners were taken, seven in number, and from them it was learned that the leaders of the rebels were Sam Nowlin, former colonel of the Queen's Household Guard, and Robert Wilcox, who was the leader of the revolution in 1887, the other prominent ones being half whites, formerly in the service of the queen. After the first surrender the natives came dropping into the government camps in bunches, until there were soon more prisoners than troops. The prisoners claimed they had 600 rifles, but only 500 men were arrested.

Many Natives Killed.

At 6 o'clock the government forces camped for the night, pursuit being impossible in the dense brush. While this was going on, the tug Elu, with a field piece and a detail of sharpshooters, left Honolulu, and in half an hour was in a position to shell from the rear of the natives, whose camp fronted King's command. A few well-directed shots scattered them like sheep, one shot falling directly into their camp. It is known that five men were killed here and a large number wounded.

The natives were pursued by Lieutenant Coyne's company as far as the nature of the ground allowed. A shot from his field piece scattered a crowd of them who appeared on the edge of the crater, and four dead bodies were the result. Thirty-six rifles, two 100-pound boxes of cartridges and two dynamite bombs were found in an improvised fort; also a lot of clothing, including a United States navy dresscoat. Squads of troops scoured the summit of Diamond Head, but no natives were found. Two cases of gin were found and brought to headquarters. After being examined by Dr. Cooper, the army surgeon, he pronounced them poisoned, and they were destroyed.

From natives captured during the day, it was ascertained that the captain of the little steamer Waimanal was responsible for the landing of the arms with which the natives were supplied. The entire crew were arrested. The mate confessed, and, when confronted with his testimony, the captain also acknowledged his guilt. The government claims to have evidence of the whole transaction, from the original purchase until their final disposition.

During the day a large number of prominent royalists were arrested, including the editor of The Holomua, which paper was suspended, the business manager being arrested also. Up to 4 p. m. Tuesday 34 of Honolulu's prominent royalists, not including natives, were under arrest.

The total number of rebels killed is estimated at 12.

FOR ARBITRATION.

Text of British Statesmen's Proposition to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — William J. Creemer, a member of the house of commons, called upon President Cleveland yesterday in company with Secretary Gresham and presented to him a memorial signed by 354 members of the house of commons looking to the negotiation of a treaty providing for the submission to arbitration of any differences that may arise between the United States and Great Britain. Among the signers are the names of many distinguished men known to the American public. There are 232 Liberals, 71 Nationalists, 30 Unionists and 21 Conservatives on the list. It is said that this is the first time such a document has received the signatures of any Nationalist. The text of the memorial is as follows:

To the President and Congress of the United States of America:

In response to the resolution adopted by congress on April 4, 1890, the British house of commons, supported in its decision by Mr. Gladstone on June 16, 1893, unanimously affirmed its willingness to co-operate with the government of the United States in settling disputes between the two countries by arbitration.

The undersigned members of the British parliament, while cordially thanking congress for having, by its resolution, given such an impetus to the movement, and called for such a response from our government, earnestly hope that congress will follow up its resolution and crown its desire by inviting our government to join in framing a treaty which shall bind the two nations to refer to arbitration disputes which diplomacy fails to adjust.

Should such a proposal be made, our heartiest efforts would be used in its support, and we shall rejoice that the United States of America and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland have resolved to set such a splendid example to the other nations of the world.

Not Very Complimentary.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—John Burns yesterday made an address on America to the voters of Battersea. He spoke warmly of the hospitality he had received. He said there were more slums and degradation in New York than he ever saw in London. He said that the English judicial bench was theoretically perfect compared with that of America, where the capitalist bribed the legislature, corrupted the senate, squared the magistracy, chloroformed the military and bulldozed every civic official. The American government never had a fair chance, because monopolists possessed and ruled it.

LOOKS BRIGHTER

The New Year Shows Improved Conditions.

Situation in Canada Showing Healthy Signs.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, issued today, says: There are some good signs, but they do not as yet extend to business generally, which hesitates much as it has for months.

The industries are meeting a larger demand for some products since the new year began, but no definite improvement appears in prices of manufactured products or in wages. In the main, it is in a waiting condition, with much hope that positive improvement is not far off, but not very satisfactory evidence of it as yet.

Wheat has sagged off 1 cent again, with western receipts only about half last year's. The department's estimate of 460,000,000 bushels, against less than 400,000,000 earlier in the season, points to a probability that the commercial estimates have been nearer the fact. Western receipts have fallen off of late, but no longer afford definite indication of the supply remaining, which some estimate as 60,000,000 smaller than a year ago, although the price does not answer to such reckonings.

Corn has declined 1⅛ cents, in spite of the very low government estimate of yield, receipts being now larger than of wheat.

Cotton has remained steady at 5¾ cents, with a fairly large movement.

The Metal Markets.

There is somewhat more doing in the iron and steel business, enough to cause a shade of lifting in prices for Bessemer iron and billets at Philadelphia, where there is also improved demand for finished products, but at Pittsburg all changes reported are downward. Orders for bar are not large, though better are expected, and barbed wire is in light demand at 1.85 cents.

Speculation has depressed tin a fraction, the reported aim being to dislodge the holdings of the syndicate.

Sales of 250,000 pounds of lake copper at 9.87 cents are reported, though Calumet and Hecla is held at 10 cents.

Lead has been strengthened to 3.15 cents, and the reduction of 12½ to 15 per cent in wages is expected to start the tin-plate works.

Stringency In Boots and Shoes.

Embarrassment in boots and shoes does not lessen, and many manufacturers are getting near the end of their orders, while the disposition to restrict orders at the advanced prices demanded seems to be growing more general. Shipments are nevertheless larger than in any previous year to date—163,913 cases, against 148,610 two years ago. Leather is less active, as most manufacturers are waiting to see what they can afford to buy.

Woolens and Cottons.

In wool there are fairly large dealings, 10,678,815 pounds in January thus far, against 11,897,900 in 1893, much of the increase being in foreign wool. Considerable sales of carpet wool are reported, and a better demand for territory, while Ohio XX is quoted at 17 cents. The important London sale of Australian has caused some hesitation. The opening of heavy weight woolens is believed to indicate a decline of 30 to 40 cents in goods costing $3 or over, and 12½ to 20 cents in goods costing from $2 to $3 per yard, but many makes have not yet been shown. While there is much waiting in this industry, there is evident a hopeful determination to meet foreign competition.

Prices of cotton goods are still depressed, print cloths to 2⅞ cents, the lowest ever known, and leading ginghams to 4½ cents, and transactions are fairly large.

Decrease In Failures.

Failures for the week have been 375 in the United States, against 407 last year.

The Canadian Outlook.

Bradstreet's review says today: Toronto reports a moderate volume of trade, with some improvement in orders for heavy and seasonable goods and a fair outlook.

More than usual dullness is reported by Montreal jobbers, the redeeming feature in the province of Quebec being that purchases have long been confined to actual wants, so that liabilities are smaller than usual.

In Nova Scotia, the volume of trade for the year has about equalled expectation, although prices are disappointingly low and profits correspondingly interfered with.

The situation in Newfoundland remains unchanged, with the outlook not encouraging. There are 84 business failures reported from the Dominion of Canada this week. Last week the total was 53, and one and two years ago, respectively, it was 48 and 39.

Looks Brighter For Dover Bank.

DOVER, N. H., Jan. 19. — President Brewster of the Dover National bank and Bank Examiner Dorr visited Boston yesterday and examined the contents of the bank's strong box. Securities and other paper to the amount of $37,250 were found intact, as Abbott had predicted. Up to date the only defalcation known is the $10,000 note.

Was Heavily Encumbered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Edgewood, the former home of Chief Justice Chase, and till yesterday the property of his daughter, Mrs. Sprague, was sold at auction yesterday for $44,000, which, it is said, reaches only the amount of the encumbrance on the estate.

Situation Unchanged.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Jan. 19.—There has been no important change in the strike outlook. The strikers hold meetings almost daily for the mustering of non-union men into the union. In this work they claim to be making good headway.

From Frying Pan to Fire.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Edgar W. Warren is under arrest charged with forgery in Haverhill. Warren completed a six months' sentence in the house of correction here yesterday, and he was arrested as he was leaving the institution.

Admits His Guilt.

Colossal Swindling.

DOWN ANARCHY

Judge Carter Vigorously Expressed Himself

WHILE FINDING HAVERHILL STRIKERS GUILTY.

Public Funeral of 53 Victims of Butte's Horror.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

HAVERHILL, Jan. 18.—Shortly after noon today, Judge Carter of the municipal court gave his finding in the cases of Clifford King, James H. Myers, John Houghton, Napoleon Lapoint, Alfred Toucey and Emil Blanchette, the strikers who caused trouble Monday, fining each $10. The men appealed and were held for the higher court.

In summing up the case Judge Carter deplored the strikes in Haverhill, and said the present condition of things borders on anarchy. Trouble will continue to occur while foreign labor continues to pour in here, labor which comes imbued with anarchistic doctrines.

The situation today is practically unchanged although Judge Carter's decision caused a great stir.

REVOLUTION IN GREECE.

Report Sent to the Big European Bankers But is Unconfirmed.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Rothschilds' banking office received a telegram from Greece, today, announcing a revolution. No confirmation is yet received. On the Paris bourse there were rumors of rebellion.

THE PUBLIC FUNERALS.

Victims of the Butte, Mont., Explosion Being Given a Decent Burial.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 18.—This is the day of public funerals of victims of the explosion, and every hearse and covered vehicle is in use. There are many private funerals besides. Of the missing, 53 bodies have been recognized, but it is known that many bodies were blown to atoms and will never be found. The flash was seen and concussion felt at Belgrave, 73 miles away.

Last night part of a body was found at Meaderville, two miles from the scene. The owners of the burned warehouse claim that there was not over 100 pounds of giant powder in the buildings. The law limits the amount to be stored within a mile of the city at 150 pounds.

The relief committee yesterday received subscriptions amounting to $70,000.

MICHAEL KEEGAN ON TRIAL

WAS CHARGED WITH VOTING ON MICHAEL WALL'S NAME.

Case Was Given a hearing Before Judge Hadley Today—Other Police Court News of Interest.

The most interesting case which has been heard in the police court for some time, was that of Michael Keegan, for alleged violation of the election laws.

The defendant pleaded not guilty, and Lawyer Donohoe appeared for him while Lawyer Kileski appeared for the prosecution.

City Clerk Dowd was the first witness called and he gave testimony to show the legality of the election of Dec. 14, 1894.

Lawyer Kileski asked him to open a sealed package containing the check list of precinct one, Ward One. Lawyer Donahue objected to the opening of the package and argued his point at length but the court overruled his objection.

The check list showed that the name of Michael Wall had been voted upon.

Abraham Coffin, who was warden at the polling place, said that the name of Michael Wall was voted upon by the defendant, pointing him out. His vote was challenged and the challenge duly recorded. On cross-examination he said he first heard of this case yesterday. He had been here seven years and was not an A. P. A. He never saw Keegan before that day nor since, until this morning, still he knew him, was positive in his identification. He claimed he didn't talk about the case to any one.

Michael Wall, the next witness testified that he lived last May at 139 Merrimack corporation and on the day of the city election he went to Jackson hall and he was not allowed to vote as some one had voted on his name.

On cross examination Wall said he was born in Ireland; couldn't remember when. He was naturalized in '71 in Cambridge. One of his witnesses, he thought, was a Murty McQuade whom he thought lived in Little Canada. He couldn't remember the other witness.

Special Police Officer Thissell who was a checker testified that he saw the defendant challenged while voting under the name of Michael Wall by a man named Pickup. The alleged illegal vote was cast between 3 o'clock and twenty five minutes to four.

Walter V. Hunt, an election inspector was then called. He was ballot inspector that day. He identified the defendant as the man who voted on Wall's name. He hadn't talked with any one about the case.

Police Officer Alexander Duncan was on duty in Jackson hall, election day. He knew Keegan, saw him vote on Wall's name; didn't know his name but had seen him about Centralville when he watched there. On cross examination Lawyer Donohue asked him if he knew Keegan why he did not arrest him at the time.

Edmond Pickup was the next witness. He stayed in the ward room that day until "3.42 or 3" o'clock. He testified that he saw Keegan vote on Wall's name. He knew Keegan was not Wall. He saw Keegan come into the hall and walk to the first gate. He listened very attentively to hear what Keegan said. He told the checker his name was Wall. Witness then went to the rail and challenged him. Both witness and defendant put their names on the ballot the complain being voting under a false name. He knew Keegan because he had worked for him in 1890. On the morning of the election the defendant came to him at the bleach house of the Merrimack and asked for work.

Mr. Pickup got excited on cross-examination. He didn't work that day, he said, having got off to vote and to see others vote. When asked if he was employed by any organization to go to the polling place, he became very nervous and answered negatively. In going there he said: "I was exercising my right as a citizen."

"How long have you been a voter here?" asked Lawyer Donahue.

"Since last October. I voted in the last state and city elections," was the answer of Pickup.

He afterward said he had been in the country since 1886.

Wallace E. Farris was in Jackson hall that day from noon until after six o'clock. He saw Keegan challenged and identified him in the police station.

This ended the government's case.

There were five witnesses for the defence.

The first was the defendant Michael Keegan, a loomfixer, residing on Coburn street. He voted in precinct three of Ward Two at about 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon. He was not in Jackson hall at all that day. That afternoon he was on Market street with two friends named Crimmins and Fitz and with them went to Centralville. He did not speak to Pickup that morning.

Lawyer Kileski tried hard to confuse the witness by a rigid cross examination but he answered all questions put to him.

He gave a detailed account of his whereabouts all that day and was not in Jackson hall at all he said.

He also said in the morning while in precinct three, Ward One he talked with Officer Palmer. Just about the time that testimony came out Officer Palmer who had been in the court room went to dinner.

A Heavy Sentence.

The case was concluded at 4 p. m. and the court found Keegan guilty and imposed a fine of $150 and sentenced him to jail for five months.

Other Cases in Court.

Poor Barney McCluskey, the well known violin player, a harmless, good natured individual, whose weakness is drink, was in this morning for drunkenness. Barney was entertaining a crowd in Belvidere with vocal selections when arrested.

In court Barney asked for another chance, saying:

"Your Honor, I wish you would give me another chance, I've stuck it out for two years."

"Well, Barney," said the court, "I gave you chances before, owing to your talent as a violin player."

"Your Honor, its hard to play the violin and keep sober," replied McCluskey.

He was placed on probation.

Three drunks, all told.

Fred H. Kimball, while drunk last night, went to a shoe store on Middlesex street and representing himself as a boss on the railroad was allowed to take three pairs of shoes away with him to try on some of his alleged employes. He pawned one pair and was on his way to Boston when Officer Hickson suspecting something wrong, arrested him. The case was continued until tomorrow.

George Jones, a weary wanderer, who is in an awful physical condition, was sent to the state farm for six months. He afterward informed the court that he had work to go to on the Carpet and the court ordered him to be kept at the station until inquiry can be made at the mill. If he has work he will probably be allowed to go as it was his first offence.

Inspector McQuade of the Bottlers' association had Samuel Cohen, a junk dealer, in court for alleged violation of the law regarding the sale of registered bottles. McQuade and Lawyer Henry Courtney prosecuted the case.

Highland Council, Royal Arcanum, held a social party in Highland hall, last evening, with John F. Parker as floor director, and a committee in charge consisting of Messrs. George Perham, chairman; O. J. Pepin, W. H. Cheney, John Thorne, W. P. Butterfield, A. R. Philbrick and W. E. Smith.

Brooklyn Troops Under Arms.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 19.—The entire Second brigade, which consists of all the companies in the city of Brooklyn, has been ordered under arms, and 2000 men are already on duty. They will not be compelled to do police duty, but will simply be used for the purpose of quelling riots. The police will be free to guard the trolley cars. Rev. Lindsay Parker, chaplain of the Twenty-third regiment, was one of the first to respond to the call of General McLeer for the men to turn out.

Plain Talk.

BANGOR, Me., Jan. 19. — Concerning Neal Dow's talk before the committee on temperance in Augusta, Chief Justice Peters said: "I have no time to waste on Neal Dow. I regard him as a crazy man, and suppose everybody else does. In all his ravings for the past two years he has not truthfully stated any fact concerning me, and that the opinion that he chatters about as my ruling was an opinion of the full court."

An Industry Coming.

A Woburn story is as follows: An important Woburn industry is about to be removed from this city. W. H. Russell of the Russell Counter company, employing 150 hands, states that he proposes next spring to remove his business to Lowell. The pay roll of the factory is about $1800 per week. The business is that of manufacturing shoe heels, counters, etc.

A Survival of the Fittest.

Manchester mill men are not interested in the southern boom. Agent Knight of the Amory mills says: "It is simply a question of the survival of the fittest. The employes of these southern mills work 12, 14, all kinds of hours a day for any kind of wages. The railroads of the south discriminate in favor of the mills in that section. On the same class of goods we simply can't compete with them. We must bring them up to us or we must go down to their level. It does not affect us so much, as our goods are of finer quality."

KIRK STREET CHURCH.

Roll Call and Supper For the Members—Deacon Mack Will Retire in May.

The annual meeting of the Kirk Street church was held last evening at the vestry. Supper was served early in the evening.

Deacon A. G. Cumnock, as moderator, called to order. There were 125 members present. The report of the clerk and treasurer, Mr. A. L. Thompson, showed a satisfactory condition of things for the church. The receipts amounted to $2305.-12 and the expenses to $2276.42, leaving a balance of $28.70.

A satisfactory report was presented by Louis Alexander for the Sunday school, and there was also a report of the secretary and treasurer, Frank W. Hall. Mrs. Louis Alexander presented a report for the primary department; Miss Lucy Fay reported for the Ladies' Missionary society and Miss Avery for the Y. P. S. C. E.

Mr. E. P. Woods presented a voluminous report for the Central Mission school. He also reported on the work of the school.

A committee consisting of Deacon S. L. Ward, J. W. C. Pickering and Miss Lucy Fay reported the following officers who were elected:

Examining committee, the deacons, pastor, superintendent of Sunday school, clerk, Mrs. J. B. Trueworthy, Mrs. Gardner, Miss Lizzie Kennedy, Miss Julia Ward and Miss Mary Sewell; deaconesses, Miss Alice Merrill, Mrs. Aaron Brown and Miss Ellen R. Edgell; ushers, Messrs. Henry W. Hyde Ellsmore Webster, Arthur Wright and Harry Sewell; Central Mission, E. P. Woods, with Jacob Rogers, George W. Batchelder and Miss Edgell; clerk and treasurer, A. L. Thompson.

Sunday school, Superintendent, J. W. C. Pickering; assistant, Louis Alexander; primary department, Mrs. Alexander; secretary and treasurer, Frank W. Hall; advisory board, A. G. Cumnock, Samuel Sewell and Miss Lucy Fay.

Moderator Cumnock submitted an amendment to the by-laws to the effect that in future the deacons be elected for a term of six years, with one retiring each year and one elected to take his place. He thought this a better plan than keeping deacons in office year after year for an indefinite period. There was a number of young men growing up in the church and they should be given an opportunity of assuming some of the responsibility. Deacon Mack will have served 50 years a deacon next May he said, and for myself I intended to retire tonight but like Deacon Mack I think I shall wait now till 1896. We have as much love for the church as ever, but we think it better that other men should assume some of the responsibility.

Mr. George W. Batchelder asked if Mr. Cumnock's amendment made any provision as to how the deacons would be retired; for instance, who would retire in one year, two years, etc. Mr. Cumnock thought there would be no difficulty about that. The junior deacon might retire himself. Mr. S. H. Thompson spoke on the by-laws which he said were vague and indefinite. A committee consisting of Messrs. Thompson Burnham and Batchelder was appointed to revise and classify the by-laws and consider Deacon Cumnock's amendment.

Mr. H. B. Shattuck spoke on "Absentees."

A vote of thanks was tendered Deacon Cumnock for two beautiful floral decorations; and to Dea. Ward for his services at the Central mission school. $50 were donated for flowers and $200 for Sunday school.

WHO ARE POPULAR?

Married Men of Lowell Will Soon Determine This Question and the Most Popular Will Get a Fine Parlor Suite.

The voting in THE SUN'S parlor suite contest has already begun and the ballots are being polled. Next week the first result will be published. You can send in your ballots at once.

O'Donnell & Gilbride will have the parlor suite in one of their big show windows next week and it is sure to attract great attention.

Candidates for it will be numerous, and we note that the winner of THE SUN'S house lot contest is about to enter matrimony, which step will make him eligible for the parlor suite.

Of course when he gets his house built he will need a parlor suite. A suggestion is sufficient to the wise.

ON THE ICE TRACK.

More Good Trotting at Which Nearly All the Fast Horses Were Entered.

The track on the river was crowded yesterday with good horses and game drivers and while there were no set races, the improvised heats and brushes were far more interesting that the very "yallow" race of the day previous.

The finest heat of the day was between "Elsie Mac" C. B. Talbot's flyer and Bingham's old standby "Monkey Rolla" driven by "Doc" Evans. Monkey is a pacer and didn't take kindly to the loose footing of the track, and while he gamely went three heats a close second, he could not finish ahead of Elsie. Monkey was not up to his clip, neither was the Talbot mare.

Another interesting brush was that between Billy Farrell's "Black Pat" and a slick mare driven by Tom Molloy. Honors were even.

Then there were others.

Dan Osgood set a fast pace behind his pacing colt "Pagan."

P. Keyes, Sr., drove his favorite "Black Dan" who was with the leaders.

Tom Lennon and Frank Feeney cut ice behind "Col. Prescott" in a natty racing sleigh.

Dr. McCann and James E. O'Donnell were the attraction of the day behind Jimmie's new purchase "Robert H." who shows a mark of 2.17 1-4.

Frank S. Bean had a fast bay.

Hon. Chales D. Palmer and wife enjoyed the sport behind a very promising colt.

Frank Harris had out one of his fastest.

George Evans and a friend were comfortably ensconsed in a fine Bailey sleigh behind his new purchase said to be a dark one.

AT THE NEW POST OFFICE

SOME FIGURES RELATIVE TO CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTS.

Postmaster Pearson Took Possession Yesterday and Will Appoint Officers Monday—Description of Interior.

During the past few days Postmaster Pearson has been busy at the new post office supervising the arrangement of the various offices and obtaining a general knowledge of the "lay" of the building. In this work he has received valuable assistance from Clerk Meade who is better acquainted with the building than any other person and who well understands the plans as drawn up and the arrangement of even the smallest detail in the building.

In examining the plans and contracts for the new building Postmaster Pearson has run across some interesting figures.

A SUN man dropped into the new building yesterday afternoon and was shown some statements bearing upon the contracts.

The contract for the basement was awarded to C. Thomas of Washington for $22,205, and was not completed on time. This work was finished in April, 1893. On May 28, 1892, Staples Bros., were given the contract to construct the superstructure, the same to be completed 15 months from the date of awarding the contract. But this was not done owing to the delay experienced by the non-completion on time of the work on the basement, and also because of the failure to secure laborers during the strike of the bricklayers. Staples Bros., however, completed their work, Jan. 3, 1894, and received $70,024.50. The contract for interior finish was awarded to E. Earnshaw & Son of Chicago, for $30,700, and the work was completed Nov. 20, 1894.

Several Lowell firms wanted to do the plumbing in the new building, but were under bid by the Dalton company of Chicago, whose figures were $4496. A time limit of 100 working days was placed on this contract, but it was not completed on time.

Farrell & Conaton proved close figurers and for having a sharp point on their pencil they were allowed to put in the heating and ventilating apparatus, at a cost of $9,800. The great bell and the clock in the tower were put in place by the E. Howard Watch & Clock company., at a cost of $1823.95. The marble used for the wainscoting, tiles, and base in the corridors and in the toilet rooms was supplied by the Barney Marble company of Swanton, Vt. The Bolin Manufacturing company of St. Paul, Minn., laid the oak finish and maple flooring, and John Booth of Chicago, Ill., furnished and placed in position the iron stairs.

The other contracts which were of minor importance were: glass, C. B. Coburn of this city; hardware to the Yale & Towne company.

The wainscotting and tiles in the first floor are of marble; in the second story the wainscotting is of panelled wood, the tiles of marble, and the flooring of maple. The trimmings throughout the building are of oxydized silver.

In the office there are 700 small letter boxes, 130 large letter boxes, 42 lock drawers, 4 local letter drops, 4 letter drops, 2 paper drops and one package drop.

A new departure and a valuable addition to the local post office department is the six inspector lookouts placed in different parts of the building and commanding a view of the entire work room. They are fitted with registers so that a person can unobserved take in whatever is transpiring in the work room.

It is not expected that the building will be all ready for occupancy before February 15 as the transom rods, door holders, door stops, screens and double acting doors in the money order department have not yet been placed in position.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Had An Idea of Sending a Petition to the Legislature.

Aldermen Varnum offered a solution which did not solve, at the meeting of the aldermen last evening.

After the council had labored in vain, the night preceding to choose a head, the wily Ward Two alderman thought to break the deadlock by asking the board to apply to the legislature for right to break the deadlock by the election of an additional councilman. He with his republican confreres saw something in such a move and of couse they all favored it.

But the lone democrat Alderman Dow could discern nothing advantageous in such a move. He said that the board should go ahead and transact its own business and ballot for such city officials as are dependent on concurrent vote.

No definite action was taken on the proposition of "Daniel the diplomat."

Mayor Courtney appointed William Miles a constable.

The board then adjourned till next Tuesday evening.

Tuberculin Test Was Proved.

Farmers and town officials at Westford are satisfied that tuberculin is a good test in cattle. A cow owned by Charles F. Trott has had the appearance of suffering from tuberculosis and George T. Day, the local inspector, said the animal was afflicted with the disease. The tuberculin test was applied by an agent of the state cattle commissioners and the animal pronounced sound.

This did not satisfy the farmers and others, and Capt. Sherman H. Fletcher, as chairman of the board of selectmen, applied to the state cattle commissioners to allow the cow to be killed under inspection of their agent.

This was done today and the examination showed that the tuberculin test was correct.

KEEGAN WAS HEAVILY FINED

DECISION GIVEN BY JUDGE HADLEY IN ILLEGAL VOTING CASE.

Witnesses for the Defence Were Not Credited With Giving a Correct Statement of Keegan's Whereabouts on That Election Afternoon.

When Judge Hadley had finished his dinner, yesterday noon, he sat on the Keegan case again and Patrick Fitzgerald, the second witness for the defence took the stand. On the afternoon of election day he met Keegan at his boarding house on Market street. They went up to precinct three of Ward One and stayed there until about three o'clock. They then went to Centralville by way of Broadway, Dutton, Market, Shattuck, Merrimack and Bridge streets. He was with Keegan from shortly after dinner until after five o'clock. At no time in the afternoon did Keegan go into Jackson hall.

Lawyer Kileski put the witness through a lengthy cross-examination.

During the cross-examination, Lawyer Kileski said to Fitzgerald: "Look at me; don't look at Mr. Donohue."

"Let him alone," replied the irrepressible Daniel, "he knows a work of art when he sees it."

"I guess he does, from the way he's been educated," said Kileski.

"The New York Sun isn't booming him though," were Donohue's parting words.

Joseph O'Neil was in precinct one when the vote was challenged. He saw the man and thought he was much bigger than Keegan. He was quite sure it was not Keegan who was challenged.

Michael Mullican, who was in precinct three all day, saw the man who was challenged. He was not Keegan. He was considerably larger.

Michael Crimmins told substantially the same story as did Fitzgerald. He went through a rigid cross examination.

This ended the defendant's case and Chief Davis was put on the stand by the government.

The chief related a conversation which he had with the defendant in which the latter said he couldn't remember any particular one who was with him in the afternoon.

Keegan acknowleged the fact in this conversation that he asked Pickup for work.

Edward Wesby, another employe of Mr. Pickup's, said that Keegan came there that morning and asked for work. There was fun when this witness was cross-examined for there was some slight suspicion of a religious feeling in the matter. During the examination of Fitzgerald, Lawyer Kileski brought out the fact that he is a member of the Wolf Tone Guards and Hibernians, and when Lawyer Donahue took hold of Wisby he asked him immediately if he was an A. P. A. He replied he had heard of them but was not a member "yet." He said: "What if I were is it any of your business?" The court then interposed and excluded the evidence including that relating to Fitzgerald.

Lawyer Donahue then made a lengthy argument of a forcible character, carefully reviewing the entire evidence. Lawyer Kileski followed with a strong argument.

Judge Hadley soon gave his decision, evidently putting little reliance in the witnesses for the defence. He imposed a fine of $150 on Keegan with a sentence of five months in jail.

SHUT OUT SMALL AUCTIONEERS.

Such the Plan of a Bill Now Pending in the Legislature.

A mild war has been begun in the ranks of the auctioneers of Boston and neighboring cities. The smaller auctioneers think they have good reason to fear an attempt on the part of the more wealthy and powerful auctioneers to freeze them out of the business.

They have already organized, under the title of the Auctioneers' association of Massachusetts.

The organization was perfected on Jan. 6, and the officers have since been taking steps to protect the interests of the members.

They have issued a circular which has been sent to about every auctioneer in Boston. It reads, in part, as follows: "A bill is pending before the present legislature making certain changes in the laws relating to auctioneers. The essential feature is to raise the fee from $2 to $500, without the power of deputizing, and that no sales shall be held between sunset and sunrise.

"The auctioneers have organized, and ask your aid and cooperation in killing any laws that will compel the majority of auctioneers to lose their licenses."

They say that the horse auctioneers are the men who are at the bottom of the movement which they are going to fight, and the horse auctioneers say they are entirely innocent in the matter, and would not relish so big an increase in license fees.

MILITIA IS ARMED

Ready to Mow Down the Brooklyn Strikers.

MOB SHOWS ITS INDIGNATION TOWARD SOLDIERS.

General Strike Threatened Before Tomorrow Noon.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 19.—There are 3000 militiamen under arms today, being principally distributed along these streets where there is danger of outbreaks. The soldiers first appeared on 24th avenue and were greeted with jeers by the men and boys while women in tenement houses leaned out of the windows and shook their fists at the boys in blue.

The strikers are highly indignant that the troops should be called out, and General Master Workman Connolly says this act is likely to precipitate a general strike before tomorrow. The police made a tour of the dealers in firearms today and asked them not to sell arms to the strikers, but notwithstanding many of the strikers are armed.

Some of the men are drinking heavily and are getting into a dangerous frame of mind which increases as the strike lengthens. At the corner of 8th avenue and 20th street strikers attempted to put boulders on the tracks and otherwise obstructed the rails and attempts were made to stop the cars. Police made charges repeatedly and dispersed the crowds.

The first attack on the militia was made at the Halsey street depot when a private of Co. I, 47th Regiment, was set upon and beaten insensible, so that he was taken to the armory for treatment. The strikers are not controlled by the police as was shown by an ineffectual sortie on 1800 strikers and sympathizers who captured a Flushing car on Broadway, and carried away the conductor and motorman as prisoners.

The privates in the militia do not enter into duty with very good spirit on account of the results of the Buffalo strike two years ago. If they should be on duty more than two days it will be better for them to resign in order to keep their positions.

An order for 25,000 sandwiches and 100 gallons of coffee were served to the militia at noon.

He Wants a Hearing.

This is No Bluff.

It is strange that people will pay high prices for hardware, when Callahan & Sanborn, the hardware dealers of Merrimack square undersell all their competitors. The firm carries an immense stock and they estimate that in comparison with other Lowell dealers they are 10 to 30 per cent. lower.

HOW CAN THEY DO IT?

This question has been asked frequently of late by people who purchase fine clothing at Chalifoux's for prices barely covering the cost of the cloth. The fact is, the secret of Chalifoux's ability to sell for less than actual value

Is No Secret At All.

There is nothing startling or mysterious about it whatever. Only the powerful factor of modern merchandising, such as buying for spot cash entire stocks from manufacturers for about one-third to one-half regular prices and then offering them to the consumer for a quick turn at a very slight advance.

Come in and See for Yourselves.

PLAYING FOR GOALS.

Hot Contest at Basket Ball in the Armory Tournament — Ambulance Corps Lose Another Hard Fought Match.

Basket ball was hot stuff last night at the armory in the game between the Ambulance Corps and the Mechanic Phalanx. Some said it was a rough game but little blood was spilt, although the players were mixed up repeatedly, and the tactics and interference were similiar to those in foot ball.

An hour before the game started the gallery was filled with ladies, and when the game started the crowd was the largest yet, in fact at times the crowd under the gallery was so large that it interfered with the playing not a little.

Capt. Wenden of the Phalanx won the toss and Soule who played with the Corps took the ball. The first dash was tame and in four minutes the Phalanx caged it by Tuttle. They followed this performance by another goal.

Then the Corps forced the work and quickly tied the score. The half ended with the ball in the center.

The second half was even more exciting than the first and clinching was a tactic resorted to by the Phalanx repeatedly. The goal first secured by the Corps was tied by the Phalanx making the total 9 to 9. Then the Phalanx got a snap goal unexpectedly owing to the ball getting in the crowd and being returned to the open space and caged without the interference from the Corps who thought the whistle had been blown. The final score was 18 to 9, or 8 goals to 3.

The cheering was pretty vigorous at all times but the Corps was clearly outplayed.

C Company.	Postion.	Ambulance.
Ashworth	home	McCurdy
Royal	f	Paige
Wenden	center	Soule
Colby	g	Cahill
Varnum	g	Raymond
Livingston	goal	Foss
Heath	g	Gilbert

Standing of the Clubs.

	Games won.	Games lost.	Goals won.	Goals lost.
Putnam Guards	2	0	11	2
Phalanx	2	0	11	3
Ambulance Corps	0	2	3	11
Cadets	0	2	2	11

Notes of the Game.

The Phalanx appear to be the heaviest team.

It will be Greek against Roman when the Puts and Phalanx meet. Look out for trouble.

The players who cry out the loudest about rough play are generally the ones who play the roughest with their opponent.

Some players will deliberately trip up a man and then swear he didn't.

Loss of temper leads to some disagreeable side play, as witnessed once last night.

A system of penalties for fouls will soon be needed.

Co. M wants to enter and sent a representative to last night's meeting. This will necessitate a re-arrangement of the schedule. Under the old one the Cadets and Corps were to have played Monday night.

THE DUTY OF DEMOCRATS.

In the Contest for the Presidency of the Council.

The friends of Councilmen Mansfield and Garvey claim either can be elected president of the council if they get the twelve democratic votes. If this be so why not give them the twelve votes each for a few ballots and see whether a democratic president can be elected in this way.

If there is any means by which the democrats of the common council can elect a president it is incumbent on them to try it at the earliest opportunity.

AN ALLEGED DETECTIVE.

Says He is Looking for a Lost Girl.

A man giving his name as Samuel Grant of Marblehead, stopped at the Farragut house last night. He claimed to be a detective in search of a niece, a girl about twenty years of age, named Snow, who left Lynn yesterday morning and is supposed to have eloped.

Mr. Grant registered as Mr. Hiller of Marblehead. He wears a special police badge and said he was appointed justice of the peace by Gov. Greenbalge, and that he carries police badges for his own use. He can put one of these badges upon a civilian and demand him to do his bidding under penalty of the law, so he says.

As Mr. Hiller, alias Grant, told a very improbable tale and wanted credit at the hotel, the writer did not regard him as an authorized detective and thought the story of the lost girl was a fake. He said he had notified the police to be on the lookout but Inspector Allen knew nothing of the case.

His Opinion is Wrong.

Mr. Stevens, the journalist of St. Louis, who was here last week inquiring into the branching out of industries in the south, tells the Boston Post that the companies are favorable to the change.

SOME BAGGAGE CASES.

Girls in Court for Illegal Removal of Their Effects — Drunkenness Cases Disposed of.

Eight drunks.

Four were released.

Mulvina Kirkpatrick has gone to the farm for four months. Mary Manning will do six months at jail.

Jennie Batchelder was arrested on a capias. She had been on probation for removing baggage and failed to appear in court. She was sent to the farm for vagrancy.

George Levasseur, an intelligent and well educated man with an uncontrollable appetite for drink, was sent to the workhouse.

Fred H. Kimball, who nobody knew, was charged with drunkenness and larceny of three pairs of shoes and a pair of overshoes from the store of Eugene Twitchell. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20.

Lizzie Barnes was in court for illegally removing baggage. This is one of "Pa" Sam Smith's cases. Smith is a man who runs a boarding house on Appleton street and who has many cases in court. Lawyer Donohue, for the defendant, promises an interesting case next Tuesday, when it will be tried.

BOWLING NEWS.

The "cops" had their best team out last night and made the Home club "bite the dust." The game was a very good exhibition and the bowling was quite even. "Jim" McLaughlin had his spurs on and knocked down pins in elegant style, putting up a total of 529, and was the only man to pass the 500 notch.

The star plays of the evening were made by Hurley, who got 6-7-10, and Connors, who made 5-6. The score:

Police—Donaldson 419, Brosnahan 408, Connors 446, Hurley 498, McLaughlin 529; total 2360.

Home club—Anderson 460, Baker 468, Brown 451, Kittredge 419, Williamson 480; total 2274.

Second Division.

Contestants in the second division were the Belvideres and the Exploders.

But the Exploders did not explode as they might, and the Quality hill lads came out ahead with 20 pins to the good. The score was as follows;

Belvideres—Rogers 417, Mason 406, Wright 337, Boardman 393, Halstead 427; total 1980.

Exploders—McElholm 395, Cannon 354, Fox 390, Ahlberg 369, Donohue 447; total 1954.

Worse Than in Lowell.

A great plea for the Haverhill strikers was made by the Herald, which analyse the cases of the strike. It shows conclusively that cut down after cut down has brought not only distress but caused widespread immorality.

In a comparison with Lawrence, Lowell and other textile cities, it is shown that the normal condition of Haverhill female operatives is far lower, speaking generally.

In a series of interviews by competent authorities, it appears that the great majority of operative make but little over $3 a week for the year. Taking the names of 82 girls off the pay roll they had worked 1027 weeks at $2.58 a week. The low wages paid to men is equally a matter of discussion.

It would appear that Lowell's poorly paid mill operatives are better off than the shoe shop girls, as the former work all the year while the latter average but little over eight months.

At Dr. Court's Church.

The annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church was held last evening in the vestry. Rev. Dr. Court called to order.

The financial secretary reported that during the year $1195.30 had been received from pew rentals. The treasurer's report showed receipts of $895.50 from other sources and a balance of $122.37 now in the treasury. David W. Dewar presented the report of the debt fund. During the year $201.75 has been added to it.

Officers were elected as follows:

President, Isaac McLean; clerk, Dudley J. Bouchard; treasurer, Hector Sutherland; financial secretary, Andrew Jamieson; treasurer of debt fund, David W. Dewar; auditors, David Dewar, Thomas McKeen and Thomas Sutherland; trustees for three years, John McDonald, Thomas McKee and Andrew Rogers.

The report of the Willing Hands society was presented and showed receipts of $87.15. It was also stated that the church had given $121 for missions.

Dr. Court spoke briefly before adjournment.

Ladies to Go Sleighing.

The Ladies of the G. A. R., at their meeting last evening, talked about a sleigh ride to Chelmsford Center, to Mr. Caverley's residence in the near future. The national president made a visit here, Thursday.

Good Afternoon.

THAT DEADLOCK

And How the Republicans Would Remedy It.

REPUBLICAN ALDERMEN REFUSE TO DO BUSINESS.

Where the Blame Rests and What Will be the Result.

The board of aldermen met last night and failed to do business on account of the deadlock in the common council.

What has the deadlock in the lower board to do with the upper board?

Why do not the aldermen go ahead with the city's business and send it down for concurrence?

Why do they assume that the council will not concur?

What prevents the aldermen from doing business? There is no deadlock there. Why neglect the business to be transacted and dilate upon a possible means of remedying the deadlock in the lower board?

Has the upper board done anything which the lower has failed to concur in? Nothing.

Why did not the aldermen at their last meeting elect the necessary officers and send them down for concurrence? They did not venture to ballot for any officer except city auditor. Why?

There is but one conclusion to be drawn from their action. It is extremely partisan. It has but one object and that is to secure all the offices for republicans.

What a farce it was for Alderman Varnum to suggest a petition to the legislature to empower them to elect a councilman at large! Just think of it. If the seven wise men would read the constitution they would find that any such councilman must be elected by the people.

But what care republican partisans for constitutions or charters; all they want is to secure the offices for their minions.

They want first, the presidency of the common council and next the offices of city clerk and city treasurer.

If they want the two last named offices so very much, why do they not elect a democratic president and take these two offices? That would not be satisfactory to a party that wants all the offices. The seven wise men in the upper board appear to the public to be playing a game of politics, but if that is the game why cannot democrats also play it?

Had the alderman any other purpose it seems to us that they would go ahead and elect all the appointive officers instead of stopping after choosing a republican candidate for auditor.

Had the republican councilmen made a proposition to their democratic colleagues to take the presidency of the council and the office of auditor for the offices of clerk and treasurer, it is probable that it might be considered. Or, if they want the latter offices and are willing to give up the former let them say so and that will undoubtedly receive due consideration. They have made no proposition, but by their action or rather inaction, they plainly show that they hope to induce some democrat to turn over in the role "cuckoo" and help them to carry their point, turn out all the democratic officials and elect republicans in their places.

They are waiting for what they will not get and they may as well realize now as later that they will be obliged to do what is fair.

A temporary president of the council can do business just as well as one elected permanently. Why do the republicans prevent him?

The only business proposition submitted to overcome the deadlock was that by Councilman Garvey when he offered a motion to authorize the temporary president to proceed with the regular business which was the appointment of committees.

The republicans voted down this proposition, but they did not offer any substitute.

What then is the conclusion to be drawn from the attitude of the republicans in both branches?

It is this: They are uncompromisingly partisan. They prostitute the interests of the city, its business and its welfare to a scramble for the spoils. They are a unit on that policy and so long as they maintain that attitude just so long will the democrats stand firmly together and until the republican shams are exposed, until the humbugs who pose as patriots and unite as a band of spoilsmen shall have received the public censure they so richly deserve.

The democrats of the city council are willing to do business, they have been willing to do business since inauguration day; the republicans are the obstructionists, the spoilsmen, the office seekers, because they refuse to compromise, they want all the offices, they want to overcome the democratic majority and they even threaten to ask the legislature for power to accomplish that end.

Let them try that and see if the legislature will so stultify itself as to assist in a raid for official spoils.

The democrats are ready even for that emergency, they are willing to do what is right, to perform the duties for which they were elected; but the republicans follow a different policy.

It is but right the public should know the facts and place the blame where it belongs.

GOV. GREENHALGE can cover himself with glory by standing firmly against the pardon of the railroad officials who violated the law by causing a riot at Abington. To free them will be to interfere with the just sentence of the law. It will be an unjust discrimination and will prove that justice cannot be dealt out equally to all in Massachusetts. Will the governor leave himself open to that charge? That is what the people want to know.

THE NEW president of the French republic is above all a man of business, a millionaire ship owner who has distinguished himself in parliament by his great foresight and sagacity on business questions. His election will probably effect a reform in the tariff or a reduction in protective duties. He enters office with the enmity of all the disturbers, socialists, radicals, revolutionists, monarchists and others. He will have to rule with a firm hand to restrain such opposition within proper bounds.

IT IS a considerable time since Simon B. Harris got his leg pulled as he did in Little Canada while trying to walk into Cyrille Constantineau's drug laboratory. Cyrille's clerk claims to know his business and Simon B. Harris claims to know his. Simon was going into that laboratory on business when the clerk as a mere matter of business thought of shutting the door and jammed Simon's leg. Simon came away without evidence to sustain a case and no doubt a certain clerk is singing the popular song for "One of His Legs is Longer Than it Really Ought To Be."

IT IS clear the democrats of congress cannot pass a currency bill in the face of republican opposition. Senator Sherman has drafted a bill which may form the basis of a compromise between both parties. It authorizes the issue of five year, 3 per cent. bonds, the employment of the proceeds either for current expenses or for the redemption of United States notes. It also authorizes the issue of 3 per cent. coin certificates in small denominations to meet the popular demand and permits national banks to issue notes to the par value of the bonds deposited for circulation. After discussion some of the provisions may be altered or dropped but the whole measure serves to offer acceptable ground for a compromise between all the financial factions. Something of the kind should be done for the relief of the treasury.

SOME OF the would be reformers of Boston want a legislative committee appointed to investigate the administration of Boston affairs during the past year. There is no specific charge of corruption but the whole is done by cheap imitators of Parkhurst and Lexow.

How They Are Caused and Avoided In Window Tight Rooms.

Several years ago in the fall of the year I was sick for weeks, and when at last I was able to sit up I sat in my sitting room, which faced the northwest, during the daytime, and wishing to see the passing I had my place near a large window. The room had an open grate, also furnace heat, and the thermometer easily registered 70 to 75 degrees, but with all this warmth there was a draft, as I thought, on my head and neck.

Every one said the cold air came in at the window sash. I sent for the weather strip man, and of course he discovered, or thought he did, the cause and put on his rubber molding so that the sash when closed was tight.

"Now," he says, "you will have no more trouble in that direction."

The next cold snap the same old gale of wind appeared. When my doctor came in, I spoke to him in regard to it, when he informed me that it was not the cold air from outside that I felt, but the warm air of the room, which went to the top of the window, struck the cold glass, cooled and then "fell down" as the cold air would had not the casing been airtight. He then said, "Drop your curtain about one-third and keep it there."

I did as he directed, and the gale stopped, and I had no trouble after that. He told me that the same trouble existed in most houses, even those that were well heated in the halls and bedrooms, the heat going to the top, cooling and falling back, so that one coming from a warm room down stairs and going up would often think that there must be windows open above. Of course double windows would remedy this cooling off process in the rooms, but with the curtains down a little they prevent the instant cooling of the warm air, and there is your draft. You will notice that these "drafts" are about during the day more than at night and always less in the room where there is a lamp. Why? Simply when you light your lamps or the gas you draw down the shades, and the heat does not strike the cold glass.—Boston Transcript.

SIMPLE AND SURE WAY TO MEASURE AN ACRE.

Computation Useful and Available—How to Kill a Horse—Treatment of Toothache and Deciduous Teeth.

It is desirable—in fact, indispensable—for good work that a farmer should know how many acres are in his field. Otherwise he cannot apportion seed or manure for it, nor can he tell how much time it should take to plow, harrow or cultivate it. A good cotton cord, the size of a plow line, should be kept for this purpose. To make one, buy 67 feet of cotton rope an inch round, fasten a ring at each end and make these rings precisely 66 feet apart. This is four rods. Tie a piece of red rag in the center. One acre of ground will be a piece four of these cords long and 2½ wide, equal to 10 by 10 rods, making 160 square rods to an acre.

The advantage of the rings is that one person can measure also by driving a stake in the ground to hold the rope while he stretches it out. The rope should be soaked in tar and then dried. This will prevent its shrinking.

Last year a neighbor of the writer had a heavy sod plowed by contract at $2.50 per acre. Three persons stepped it off. One said it was four acres, another made it a little over five, and the third said it was 3½ acres. The contractor sent over and got this rope, and all five men measured it, and it was found to be just 3½ acres. He had paid to have the grass cut off it for three years $1 per acre, or $5 each season, counting it to be five acres in extent, thus losing $4.50 through ignorance.

Get a measuring line, and when not in use put it away, so that the hands cannot get at it, or they will be very apt to cut a piece off it to tie up harness, thus making it worthless for measuring purposes.

How to Kill a Horse.

The Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has issued a card showing how horses may be killed scientifically. The information is especially for policemen, who are ordinarily called upon to dispose of sick or suffering animals.

To shoot a horse so as to kill it instantly it is only necessary to aim so that the bullet will enter the brain by passing through a spot in the middle of the forehead above the eyes. The card issued by the society bears a drawing of a horse's head, showing the exact spot.

How to Treat Toothache.

It is hard to cure a bad toothache of several days' continuance. A hypodermic of morphine only postpones the evil day, and usually the patient is respectfully referred to the dentist. The tooth should not be extracted while the jaws and gums are inflamed and the latter swollen, and it is the physician's duty to treat the case until the above conditions are removed.

Always keep a small vial containing the following mixture: Chloroform, gtt. x.; glycerin, gtt. x.; sat. sol. ac. carbol, gtt. x.; morphine, gr. j., with a small wad of absorbent cotton. If the offending tooth has a cavity or decayed surface, saturate a small pellet of cotton with the above mixture and put into the cavity or against the decayed surface, as the case may be. Never pack the cotton in, or the greator will be the trouble, but have the pellet small enough to enter without crowding. In most cases this will end the trouble. When the gums are swollen and tender, paint two or three times, two minutes apart, with a 4 per cent solution of cocaine.

The patient may have been eating a good deal of fruit. The tongue and mucous membrane of the mouth are pale, with sour stomach, and the next day the toothache will return.

Give ten grains of subcarbonate of bismuth and ten grains of phenacetine at once, and a similar dose before each of the three following meals, with a laxative, if needed, and stop all fruit for a few days, and it will not return. The same powder every two hours, with cessation of fruit eating, will stop the persistent, tormenting neuralgias.

How to Cream Butter and Sugar.

When using a spoon or whisk for beating, take long upward strokes, the more rapid the better. The spoon should touch the bottom of the bowl each time, and the motion must be regular. Another way to beat it is to use a circular motion. In this case the side of the spoon is kept close to the side of the bowl. The spoon is moved rapidly in a circle, carrying with it a portion of the ingredients. This kind of beating can be applied only to a very thick mixture. It is the best method for creaming butter and sugar.

How to Care For the Deciduous Teeth.

The child receives its first temporary tooth about the fifth month after birth, the dentition being completed at the age of 2 years. These teeth should be cleaned with a soft brush and warm water. The child usually retains these teeth until the eruption of the permanent set, the first permanent tooth appearing about the sixth year. The deciduous teeth should be carefully watched, and when a tooth shows decay consult your dentist and have it filled. At this stage the filling is not expensive and will save the child much pain and trouble from an aching tooth. The early extraction of the deciduous teeth often causes the irregularities of the permanent set. They should be retained until the jaw has fully expanded to receive the permanent teeth. Teach the child the necessity of keeping the teeth clean and pure. The early use of the toothbrush will establish a habit that will, in after years be considered a necessity to health and personal cleanliness.

How to Estimate Etiquette.

Nice manners are invaluable. The charm of politeness cannot be overestimated. True etiquette is inborn. It is rarely acquired in mature life. Old men and women who try to become gentlemen and ladies have some sad lessons to learn. Only born gentlemen and gentlewomen realize the importance of good manners at home on all occasions. Boys and girls reared in a family where company manners prevail all the time, and where each is considerate of all the others' feelings and thinks of his comfort last, will never outgrow them.

OPEN REBELLION

TWELVE RIOTERS KILLED BY THE MILITIA.

Internal Conflicts Threaten the New Born State.

HONOLULU, Jan. 11.—There were no fresh developments in the threatened uprising here until last Sunday afternoon (Jan. 6), when Deputy Marshal Brown and a squad of police under Captain Parker left for Waikaikai with orders to search the premises of Henry Bertlemann, a prominent royalist, for arms and ammunition.

On arrival there, Parker proceeded to read his warrant. When half way through, a volley was fired by a crowd of natives under a shed in the rear of Bertlemann's house, and Charles Carter and Lieutenant Holie fell wounded. The police charged and drove the natives out, when the latter retreated to the brush, keeping up a desultory fire. As the police only numbered eight, and there were three or four times as many natives, they returned to the house, taking with them three of the rebels whom they had captured in the melee, during which some 60 shots were fired.

The rebels surrounded the house again, firing into it repeatedly. Leaving one man to guard the prisoners, the officers returned the fire, but without effect, as it was dark and their assailants could not be seen. Realizing that their case was desperate and that word must be got to town at all hazards, it was decided that Brown and Barker should make a dash for their horses, which were tied near the house. This was done with success, and they were soon at the nearest telephone.

Volunteers to the Front.

Within two minutes after receiving the telephone account of the fight, a detail of 32 men from the regulars stationed at the government headquarters were ordered out. The command was given to Lieutenant King. Volunteers were called for, and nearly every man in the barracks stepped to the front. As soon as they came within shooting distance of the scene of action the natives fired a parting volley and fled.

Soon after the deputy marshal came up, and the premises were thoroughly searched. The Japanese servant brought to light several pistols and revolvers.

At daylight a large force of natives, who had taken up a strong position on the slope of Diamond Hill, attacked King's forces. After standing fire about an hour and finding the natives had the advantage of numbers and position, King moved his forces to San Souci, a pleasure resort with telephonic communications. Shortly after the telephone was used Lieutenant Coyne and 25 more regulars were sent. The number of insurgents were variously estimated from 1 to 200. With Coyne's force was sent an 8-pound field piece. President Murray of the Citizens' Guard, with 25 mounted policemen, went out into a road leading toward the insurgents. The first intimation that Murray's force had of an enemy was a shower of bullets which did no harm. Had the natives waited a little longer Murray's forces could have been annihilated.

This fight occurred on the side of a mountain, where a seriated side forms an almost inaccessible valley of little width. It was the object of the government troops to drive the rebels around the base of the mountain, from which there could be no escape, except over the famous Pauli road, which 10 or 12 men could hold against a small army.

Martial Law Proclaimed.

On Monday morning martial law was proclaimed and all saloons were closed. The news of the death of Carter, who was a popular young lawyer and was recently elected a member of the legislature, intensified the general feeling, and it would have gone hard with the assassins had they not been strongly guarded.

By noon all the stores were closed and there were few people on the streets. The street cars and busses were stopped, and the only excitement was at the marshal's office, where arms were being distributed. All persons not engaged in the military or police forces were commanded to deliver all arms or ammunition in their possession to the marshal within 24 hours.

After conferring with Captain Murray, Captain Zeigler and a company of regulars were dispatched to his aid, taking with him one Australian field piece. The troops advanced and forced the rebels into the brush. It is certain that many of them were wounded. The only man wounded on the government side was Captain Ludwig. Then the first prisoners were taken, seven in number, and from them it was learned that the leaders of the rebels were Sam Nowlin, former colonel of the Queen's Household Guard, and Robert Wilcox, who was the leader of the revolution in 1887, the other prominent ones being half whites, formerly in the service of the queen. After the first surrender the natives came dropping into the government camps in bunches, until there were soon more prisoners than troops. The prisoners claimed they had 600 rifles, but only 500 men were arrested.

Many Natives Killed.

At 6 o'clock the government forces camped for the night, pursuit being impossible in the dense brush. While this was going on, the tug Eiu, with a field piece and a detail of sharpshooters, left Honolulu, and in half an hour was in a position to shell from the rear of the natives, whose camp fronted King's command. A few well-directed shots scattered them like sheep, one shot falling directly into their camp. It is known that five men were killed here and a large number wounded.

The natives were pursued by Lieutenant Coyne's company as far as the nature of the ground allowed. A shot from his field piece scattered a crowd of them who appeared on the edge of the crater, and four dead bodies were the result. Thirty-six rifles, two 100-pound boxes of cartridges and two dynamite bombs were found in an improvised fort; also a lot of clothing, including a United States navy dresscoat. Squads of troops scoured the summits of Diamond Head, but no natives were found. Two cases of gin were found and brought to headquarters. After being examined by Dr. Cooper, the army surgeon, he pronounced them poisoned, and they were destroyed.

From natives captured during the day, it was ascertained that the captain of the little steamer Waimanal was responsible for the landing of the arms with which the natives were supplied. The entire crew were arrested. The mate confessed, and, when confronted with his testimony, the captain also acknowledged his guilt. The government claims to have evidence of the whole transaction, from the original purchase until their final disposition.

During the day a large number of prominent royalists were arrested, including the editor of The Holomua, which paper was suspended, the business manager being arrested also. Up to 4 p. m. Tuesday 34 of Honolulu's prominent royalists, not including natives, were under arrest.

The total number of rebels killed is estimated at 12.

Text of British Statesmen's Proposition to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — William J. Creemer, a member of the house of commons, called upon President Cleveland yesterday in company with Secretary Gresham and presented to him a memorial signed by 354 members of the house of commons looking to the negotiation of a treaty providing for the submission to arbitration of any differences that may arise between the United States and Great Britain. Among the signers are the names of many distinguished men known to the American public. There are 232 Liberals, 71 Nationalists, 30 Unionists and 21 Conservatives on the list. It is said that this is the first time such a document has received the signatures of any Nationalist. The text of the memorial is as follows:

To the President and Congress of the United States of America:

In response to the resolution adopted by congress on April 4, 1890, the British house of commons, supported in its decision by Mr. Gladstone on June 16, 1893, unanimously affirmed its willingness to co-operate with the government of the United States in settling disputes between the two countries by arbitration.

The undersigned members of the British parliament, while cordially thanking congress for having, by its resolution, given such an impetus to the movement, and called for such a response from our government, earnestly hope that congress will follow up its resolution and crown its desire by inviting our government to join in framing a treaty which shall bind the two nations to refer to arbitration disputes which diplomacy fails to adjust.

Should such a proposal be made, our heartiest efforts would be used in its support, and we shall rejoice that the United States of America and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland have resolved to set such a splendid example to the other nations of the world.

Not Very Complimentary.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—John Burns yesterday made an address on America to the voters of Battersea. He spoke warmly of the hospitality he had received. He said there were more slums and degradation in New York than he ever saw in London. He said that the English judicial bench was theoretically perfect compared with that of America, where the capitalist bribed the legislature, corrupted the senate, squared the magistracy, chloroformed the military and bulldozed every civic official. The American government never had a fair chance, because monopolists possessed and ruled it.

Humbert's Congratulations.

ROME, Jan. 19.—King Humbert has telegraphed General Baratieri, commander of the Italian armies in eastern Africa, who recently defeated the Abyssinians, as follows: "The successes against an enemy numbering three times as many as your force are a fresh triumph of civilization over barbarism. With such soldiers, led by a valiant and intelligent chief like yourself, our country has nothing to fear in the future and is forearmed against all peril."

Two Were Frozen to Death.

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 19.—William Pitt, Thomas Buck and Joseph Erminer, each about 14 years of age, ran away from St. Vincent's Industrial school here a few days ago. Yesterday afternoon the bodies of Buck and Erminer were found in the woods near Herkimer. They had been frozen to death. Pitt was found in a barn near by, so badly frozen that his legs will have to be amputated.

Slasher Sentenced.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Antonio Constenio was yesterday sentenced to five years in state prison for assault and battery upon Mrs. Theresa Olivia, with intent to murder, and of assault and battery with a knife upon her husband, Guiseppe Olivia. The offenses were committed on the night of Dec. 9 last.

Help the Needy!

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 19.—The difficulty of feeding the hungry is daily becoming greater. A committee consisting of clergy of all denominations will issue an appeal to the world for help. Rev. Mr. Graham is the secretary, and to him all correspondence may be addressed.

Must Stay Out.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19. — The supreme court yesterday dismissed the application of ex-Captain Doherty and his wardmen, Hock and Meehan, to set aside the action of the police commissioners in dismissing them from the force after the evidence before the Lexow committee.

Bourgeois Called Upon.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—President Faure received ex-Minister Bourgeois yesterday and requested him to undertake the formation of a cabinet. M. Bourgeois declined to give a definite answer to the request, and asked that he be given time to consult with friends.

Two Sudden Deaths.

CANTON, N. Y., Jan. 19.—While taking in clothes from the line, Mrs. Gertrude Holmes was attacked by paralysis, and dropped dead. Her stepmother, seeing the woman fall, went into a fit, which resulted in her death almost immediately.

Furnished $25,000 Bail.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Ex-Police Captain Stephenson, who was convicted of bribery, has been admitted to bail in $25,000. His bondsmen are Theodore A. Stephenson, his brother, and John Berry.

Minnesota's Sensation.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 19.—The house yesterday adopted Mr. Faig's resolution to investigate the financial status of public funds. Faig said newspaper reports of illegal gains by state or other public treasurers gave the amount from $150,000 to $250,000. The reports showed over $300,000 of state funds deposited in banks that have failed.

Power of a Snowslide.

TELURIDE, Colo., Jan. 19.—A snowslide in Marshall Basin yesterday demolished the Cimarron stables and part of the Cimarron mill, twisted the Union tension tramway, knocked down the San Miguel consolidated electric light wires and did much other damage. No one was injured.

Death Was Instant.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Fred Fisher, a freight brakeman employed by the Boston and Albany railroad, was struck and instantly killed last night by a passenger train. Fisher stepped on the track to signal his own train, and owing to the snowstorm did not see the other train.

College Gymnasts to Meet.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 19.—Yale and Princeton have arranged for the first intercollegiate gymnastic meet ever planned in this country. It will be held at the Yale gymnasium on Feb. 27, and a program of 15 events has been arranged.

Elevator Rope Parted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19. — Five men at work in the Long Island tunnel of the East River Gas company were badly injured by the parting of a rope in the elevator shaft. All the men were laborers.

LOOKS BRIGHTER

The New Year Shows Improved Conditions.

Situation in Canada Showing Healthy Signs.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, issued today, says: There are some good signs, but they do not as yet extend to business generally, which hesitates much as it has for months.

The industries are meeting a larger demand for some products since the new year began, but no definite improvement appears in prices of manufactured products or in wages. In the main, it is in a waiting condition, with much hope that positive improvement is not far off, but not very satisfactory evidence of it as yet.

Wheat has sagged off 1 cent again, with western receipts only about half last year's. The department's estimate of 460,000,000 bushels, against less than 400,000,000 earlier in the season, points to a probability that the commercial estimates have been nearer the fact. Western receipts have fallen off of late, but no longer afford definite indication of the supply remaining, which some estimate as 50,000,000 smaller than a year ago, although the price does not answer to such reckonings.

Corn has declined 1¾ cents, in spite of the very low government estimate of yield, receipts being now larger than of wheat.

Cotton has remained steady at 5¾ cents, with a fairly large movement.

The Metal Markets.

There is somewhat more doing in the iron and steel business, enough to cause a shade of lifting in prices for Bessemer iron and billets at Philadelphia, where there is also improved demand for finished products, but at Pittsburg all changes reported are downward. Orders for bar are not large, though better are expected, and barbed wire is in light demand at 1.85 cents.

Speculation has depressed tin a fraction, the reported aim being to dislodge the holdings of the syndicate.

Sales of 250,000 pounds of lake copper at 9.87 cents are reported, though Calumet and Hecla is held at 10 cents.

Lead has been strengthened to 3.15 cents, and the reduction of 12½ to 15 per cent in wages is expected to start the tinplate works.

Stringency In Boots and Shoes.

Embarrassment in boots and shoes does not lessen, and many manufacturers are getting near the end of their orders, while the disposition to restrict orders at the advanced prices demanded seems to be growing more general. Shipments are nevertheless larger than in any previous year to date—163,913 cases, against 148,610 two years ago. Leather is less active, as most manufacturers are waiting to see what they can afford to buy.

Woolens and Cottons.

In wool there are fairly large dealings, 10,675,815 pounds in January thus far, against 11,287,850 in 1893, much of the increase being in foreign wool. Considerable sales of carpet wool are reported, and a better demand for territory, while Ohio XX is quoted at 17 cents. The important London sale of Australian has caused some hesitation. The opening of heavy weight woolens is believed to indicate a decline of 30 to 40 cents in goods costing $3 or over, and 12½ to 20 cents in goods costing from $2 to $3 per yard, but many makes have not yet been shown. While there is much waiting in this industry, there is evident a hopeful determination to meet foreign competition.

Prices of cotton goods are still depressed, print cloths to 2¼ cents, the lowest ever known, and leading ginghams to 4½ cents, and transactions are fairly large.

Decrease In Failures.

Failures for the week have been 375 in the United States, against 407 last year.

The Canadian Outlook.

Bradstreet's review says today: Toronto reports a moderate volume of trade, with some improvement in orders for heavy and seasonable goods and a fair outlook.

More than usual dullness is reported by Montreal jobbers, the redeeming feature in the province of Quebec being that purchases have long been confined to actual wants, so that liabilities are smaller than usual.

In Nova Scotia, the volume of trade for the year has about equalled expectation, although prices are disappointingly low and profits correspondingly interfered with.

The situation in Newfoundland remains unchanged, with the outlook not encouraging. There are 64 business failures reported from the Dominion of Canada this week. Last week the total was 53, and one and two years ago, respectively, it was 48 and 39.

Looks Brighter For Dover Bank.

DOVER, N. H., Jan. 19. — President Brewster of the Dover National bank and Bank Examiner Dorr visited Boston yesterday and examined the contents of the bank's strong box. Securities and other paper to the amount of $37,250 were found intact, as Abbott had predicted. Up to date the only defalcation known is the $10,000 note.

Was Heavily Encumbered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Edgewood, the former home of Chief Justice Chase, and till yesterday the property of his daughter, Mrs. Sprague, was sold at auction yesterday for $44,000, which, it is said, reaches only the amount of the encumbrance on the estate.

Situation Unchanged.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Jan. 19.—There has been no important change in the strike outlook. The strikers hold meetings almost daily for the mustering of non-union men into the union. In this work they claim to be making good headway.

From Frying Pan to Fire.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Edgar W. Warren is under arrest charged with forgery in Haverhill. Warren completed a six months' sentence in the house of correction here yesterday, and he was arrested as he was leaving the institution.

Admits His Guilt.

Colossal Swindling.

THE BAY STATE LEGISLATURE

QUINCY ASKS FOR A COUNTY COURT HOUSE.

The Heating of Street Cars Engages Attention—The Committee on Taxation and Foreign Corporations.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—A bill was introduced in the senate extending the time within which exceptions may be filed in the supreme judicial and supreme courts from three days, as now, to 20 days; also a bill make the judgments of police, district and municipal courts prima facie evidence on appeal in the same manner as an auditor's report.

Petitions were presented for legislation to provide for a county courthouse at Quincy, to cost $70,000; relative to legislation for contempt of court and providing that all courts shall have power to punish by fine (not to exceed $100) or imprisonment (not to exceed 30 days) contempts of their authority, provided that such power to punish shall not be construed to extend to any criminal act or misdemeanor, punishable under information or indictment, or to any cases except misbehavior of any person in their presence or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice; that county commissioners be allowed to release truants on probation or transfer them to private families; that no business before county commissioners, in which opposing parties appear, shall be determined unless there are three disinterested commissioners present and acting.

Bills introduced: Providing for heating street cars in November, December, January, February and March to a temperature of not less than 60 degrees; raising the age of consent to 18 years; to regulate steam engineering and requiring engineers to be examined and procure licenses; to provide for the preservation of public records by the use of a standard ink; to more effectually protect manufacturers from the use of counterfeit labels and stamps, the word "label" to include impressions made on leather, soap, tobacco, etc., and also marks woven into textile fabrics; providing that insurance contracts once made shall not be cancelled during the term for which they are written, unless by the mutual consent of both parties interested; extending the authority of the commissioners of inland fish and game to the propagation, protection and preservation of birds and animals "in like manner as to fish."

The committee on taxation was, by request, discharged from further consideration of the bill requiring foreign corporations to send a list of shareholders to the tax commissioner for purposes of taxation, and the matter was referred to the mercantile committee.

America's Wool Center.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin prints today a statistical review of the wool trade of the world. In the volume of transactions for the last year, London stands first; Buenos Ayres, second; Boston, third, and Sydney, fourth. Of the American markets, Boston is first, with sales of 166,000,000 pounds. Boston sold seven times as much domestic wool as New York. The capital backing the Boston trade aggregates $50,000,000. The first result of free wool on American markets has been to increase Boston's commerce. The Hub's lead is largely due to the fact that Massachusetts is the largest consumer of wool in her mills of any state in the Union, and that New England contains more than half the combing and carding machinery in the country.

Only Three Rounds.

CONEY ISLAND, Jan. 19.—The attempt of Jack Dempsey, the once famous Nonpariel, to give battle to Tommy Ryan last night was a disheartening and disgusting exhibition. Dempsey was never in the game. His actions were those of a drunken man. The crowd clamored for a cessation of the fight, and at the end of the third round the decision was given in favor of Ryan. The bout was announced for 15 rounds.

Druggists to Be Sued.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 19.—Quite a sensation has been created among the druggists of this state. A New York man has instituted suits against some of the leading druggists for handling a medicinal preparation which the moving party claims is an article patented in Germany and this country, and the article used by respondents is an imitation.

Tranquility Reigns.

ATHENS, Jan. 19. — Formal denial is given to the reports that a rebellion had broken out in Greece. The country is everywhere perfectly calm.

Will Leave Government Post.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—It is reported that M. Herbette, French ambassador to Germany, has resigned.

Almost $100,000 Loss.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 19.—Fire in the three-story brick building, extending from 150 to 170 Meeker avenue, occupied by the New York Fur Cutting company, caused a loss of $95,000.

Pension Figures.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Senator Hawley's amendment to the pension appropriation bill making all pensions not less than $8 a month will increase the pension appropriations $1,891,083 each year. There are 36,620 pensioners now on the rolls at $2 a month, 9921 at $4 and 1000 at $3.

Sugar Trust's Rival.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—Camden will soon have one of the largest sugar refineries in the country. The plant will cost nearly $3,000,000, and will have an output of about 4000 barrels of refined sugar a day. It will be run in opposition to the Sugar trust.

U. S. TREASURY

Lively Row in the House on Pension Questions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — The heavy withdrawals of gold for export from the sub-treasury at New York, yesterday, were not wholly unexpected by the treasury officials, as the indications since the first of the week have made it probable that the withdrawals for shipments today would be exceptionally large. Nevertheless, yesterday's transactions have intensified the fear of another bond issue, and in a measure dampened the spirit of hopefulness that has pervaded the treasury department for some days past.

It is, however, stoutly maintained that the record for the present fiscal year will show a decided improvement in the financial condition of the treasury over that of last year, and the steady increase in the receipts from customs and internal revenue sources, it is pointed out, gives promise of a speedy return to a period when the receipts will more than equal the expenditures.

It is figured that the customs receipts are sure to make a decided advance after Feb. 1, when the spring importations begin, and that the revenues from whisky withdrawals the remainder of the year are almost certain to reach a point even above the normal. With the sugar bounty burden of $12,500,000 a year removed, and the prospect of receipts from the income tax amounting to $20,000,000 or more before June 1, a more hopeful condition of affairs, it is said, is confidently to be looked forward to.

The interest payments on the public debt between now and the first of the coming fiscal year will aggregate about $14,000,000, and yet only about $2,500,000 of this amount (interest on the late $100,000,000 bonds issue) is in excess of the interest payment of last year. Mr. Carlisle's estimate of a deficiency of $20,000,000 for the year, notwithstanding the fact that it has already reached $37,000,000, it is believed, will be found to be approximately correct.

Last year at this time the expenditures exceeded the receipts by over $37,600,000, while for the same period in this year the deficiency is about $27,500,000, or over $10,000,000 less.

With the single exception of the month of April next, when a large interest payment becomes due, it is confidently expected that each month after this, during the remaining five months of the year, will show an excess of receipts over expenditures.

On Sherman's Lines.

Representative Walker of Massachusetts has introduced a bill similar to that proposed in the senate by Senator Sherman on the financial question. Representative Walker's bill, while on the same general lines as the Sherman bill, differs in details. It authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue proposals from time to time for four years' bonds, such as are described in the act of July 14, 1870, to authorize the refunding of the national debt, the bonds to be payable at the pleasure of the government after one year from date of issue and upon the expiration of three years, or bonds payable after three and upon the expiration of seven years, or bonds due on a certain day within three years from the date of such bonds, the secretary to have the selection regarding the term of the bonds. The bonds are to bear interest not exceeding 3 per cent.

The North and South.

There was another big row at the night session of the house last night, which grew out of the events which transpired last week. Feeling ran high and bitter words were spoken.

It started after the failure of an effort to increase the pension of the widow of General Abner Doubleday and to pension another widow who had performed services as voluntary nurse during the rebellion. Both bills were blocked by the obstruction of Jones (Dem., Va.). Cooper (Dem., Ind.) resented this and turned on Jones savagely, and with much temper he charged him with lack of chivalry in assaulting the fair sex.

Jones absolutely denied that there was any foundation for the statement that he was fighting women. "All I am fighting for," said he, "is against the granting of large pensions to the rich, powerful and influential."

"I question the motives of the gentleman from Virginia," retorted Cooper, hotly. "I believe he is actuated by the sentiment expressed by him last Friday night, when he said he was proud of the cause he had fought for in the trenches. Although he has taken an oath now to support the flag that floats above your head, Mr. Speaker (pointing to the American flag above the speaker's desk), he now displays toward it the same spirit of opposition he did when he struck at that flag 30 years ago. I have a right to say it, because he himself has said it."

Simpson (Pop., Kan.), Cox (Dem., Tenn.) and Moses (Dem., Ga.) were drawn into the controversy. Feeling ran high, and it looked as if a personal encounter might occur. Simpson continued to taunt Jones, declaring that he was not only surprised, but ashamed that a man should come from the south and say that he still believed in the lost cause.

Talbert (Dem., S. C.) at last came to Jones' rescue. He was white with rage, and while deprecating the continued appeal to sectionalism, asserted that such appeals usually came from men who were invisible in time of war and invincible in time of peace. "As to the 'lost cause,'" he said, "it is the everlasting cause, and never can be lost."

Jones got the floor just before the time for adjournment was reached. He branded Cooper's language toward him as language unworthy of a gentleman. "I want to say," he added, "that when the question was asked me last week I answered that I was proud of the lost cause. To say I believe every cause right was a slander. I always said and maintained evermore, as I do now, that the cause was right." At this point the hour of 10:30 p. m. arrived and the house stood adjourned under the rule. Had the debate lasted much longer it would probably have resulted in a personal combat.

The senate passed the army appropriation bill, carrying $23,000,000, and the bill which in effect advances General Schofield, in command of the army, to the rank of lieutenant general, held by Generals Sherman and Sheridan.

PEOPLE WASTE MUCH WATER

Some Pithy Points From Water Board and Supt. Thomas' Reports to the City Council.

The annual report of the water board gives considerable attention to the driven well plant. The expenses incurred by it for the year were $193,310, as against $211,001 for the previous year.

The total receipts on account of water works were $200,780, and the expenses $28,911.74.

The contract with the Cook company is given at length. The terms with the Hydraulic Construction company are that after the yield reached 2,000,000 gallons per day, the amount of the contract price shall be paid, provided the water is of the same quality as at present obtained. 24 wells are now in operation and the water is of a good quality.

The exact yield will be determined soon. There is a balance to the credit of driven wells of $75,524.

There is material waste in the present consumption of water, the daily consumption being 29 gallons per capita, which does not compare favorably with other well governed cities.

If we reduce the daily consumption to a resonable figure we should have driven well water in every house in the city. The water meter is the only remedy for the waste.

Attention is called to the attempts made during the year to revise the ordinance relating to the water board allowing it more power which was defeated in the common council. The hope is expressed that the present city council will treat the matter more considerately.

The late Richard B. Allen who was a member of the board, is mentioned in eulogistic terms and the report closes by complimenting the citizens upon the excellence of its water works which equal any in the country.

Supt. Thomas' Report.

In the report of Supt. Thomas much importance is laid upon the need of a 5,000,000 gallons daily capacity filter plant. Of the water used daily 3,500,000 gallons are unfiltered.

Some Pithy Points.

In illustrating the use and misuse of meters the following instance is given: During the summer a number of meters were placed in property without the knowledge of the owners. The results showed that one property of five tenements was paying $45 a year for water, which, if metered, would have cost $33.60, while another of the same number of tenements was paying $40.50 a year for water worth, metered, $194.88.

The board thinks that the city should own all water meters and do all ordinary repairs. While it believes in a universal meter system, it recognizes that it must be introduced gradually.

In Need of Food.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—A couple of thousand unemployed again visited the city hall yesterday, clamoring for work or bread. At about 1:30 p. m. the crowd had gradually grown so large that it obstructed the electric car tracks, and when ordered away by the police refused to move. The police then charged and a short fight followed, resulting in the dispersing of the crowd and the arrest of 10 of the leaders.

Manchester mill men are not interested in the southern boom. Agent Knight of the Amory mills says: "It is simply a question of the survival of the fittest. On the same class of goods we simply can't compete with them. We must bring them up to us or we must go down to their level. It does not affect us so much, as our goods are of finer quality."

KIRK STREET CHURCH.

Roll Call and Supper For the Members—Deacon Mack Will Retire in May.

The annual meeting of the Kirk Street church was held last evening at the vestry. Supper was served early in the evening.

Deacon A. G. Cumnock, as moderator, called to order. There were 125 members present. The report of the clerk and treasurer, Mr. A. L. Thompson, showed a satisfactory condition of things for the church. The receipts amounted to $2305.-12 and the expenses to $2276.42, leaving a balance of $28.70.

A satisfactory report was presented by Louis Alexander for the Sunday school, and there was also a report of the secretary and treasurer, Frank W. Hall. Mrs. Louis Alexander presented a report for the primary department; Miss Lucy Fay reported for the Ladies' Missionary society and Miss Avery for the Y. P. S. C. E.

Mr. E. P. Woods presented a voluminous report for the Central Mission school. He also reported on the work of the school.

Examining committee, the deacons, pastor, superintendent of Sunday school, clerk, Mrs. J. B. Trueworthy, Mrs. Gardner, Miss Lizzie Kennedy, Miss Julia Ward and Miss Mary Sewell; deaconesses, Miss Alice Merrill, Mrs. Aaron Brown and Miss Ellen R. Edgell; ushers, Messrs. Henry W. Hyde Elsmore Webster, Arthur Wright and Harry Sewell; Central Mission, E. P. Woods, with Jacob Rogers, George W. Batchelder and Miss Edgell; clerk and treasurer, A. L. Thompson.

Sunday school, Superintendent, J. W. C. Pickering; assistant, Louis Alexander; primary department, Mrs. Alexander; secretary and treasurer, Frank W. Hall; advisory board, A. G. Cumnock, Samuel Sewell and Miss Lucy Fay.

Moderator Cumnock submitted an amendment to the by-laws to the effect that in future the deacons be elected for a term of six years, with one retiring each year and one elected to take his place. He thought this a better plan than keeping deacons in office year after year for an indefinite period. There was a number of young men growing up in the church and they should be given an opportunity of assuming some of the responsibility. Deacon Mack will have served 50 years a deacon next May he said, and for myself I intended to retire tonight but like Deacon Mack I think I shall wait now till 1896. We have as much love for the church as ever, but we think it better that other men should assume some of the responsibity.

Mr. George W. Batchelder asked if Mr. Cumnock's amendment made any provision as to how the deacons would be retired; for instance, who would retire in one year, two years, etc. Mr. Cumnock thought there would be no difficulty about that. The junior deacon might retire himself. Mr. S. H. Thompson spoke on the by-laws which he said were vague and indefinite. A committee consisting of Messrs. Thompson Burnham and Batchelder was appointed to revise and classify the by-laws and consider Deacon Cumnock's amendment.

Mr. H. B. Shattuck spoke on "Absentees."

A vote of thanks was tendered Deacon Cumnock for two beautiful floral decorations; and to Dea. Ward for his services at the Central mission school. $50 were donated for flowers and $200 for Sunday school.

WHO ARE POPULAR?

Married Men of Lowell Will Soon Determine This Question and the Most Popular Will Get a Fine Parlor Suite.

The voting in THE SUN'S parlor suite contest has already begun and the ballots are being polled. Next week the first result will be published. You can send in your ballots at once.

O'Donnell & Gilbride will have the parlor suite in one of their big show windows next week and it is sure to attract great attention.

Candidates for it will be numerous, and we note that the winner of THE SUN'S house lot contest is about to enter matrimony, which step will make him eligible for the parlor suite.

Of course when he gets his house built he will need a parlor suite. A suggestion is sufficient to the wise.

ON THE ICE TRACK.

More Good Trotting at Which Nearly All the Fast Horses Were Entered.

The track on the river was crowded yesterday with good horses and game drivers and while there were no set races, the impromptu heats and brushes were far more interesting that the very "yallow" race of the day previous.

The finest heat of the day was between "Elsie Mac" C. R. Talbot's flyer and Bingham's old standby "Monkey Rolla" driven by "Doc" Evans. Monkey is a pacer and didn't take kindly to the loose footing of the track, and while he gamely went three heats a close second, he could not finish ahead of Elsie. Monkey was not up to his clip, neither was the Talbot mare.

Another interesting brush was that between Billy Farrell's "Black Pat" and a slick mare driven by Tom Molloy. Honors were even.

Then there were others.

Dan Osgood set a fast pace behind his pacing colt "Pagan."

P. Keyes, Sr., drove his favorite "Black Dan" who was with the leaders.

Tom Lennon and Frank Feeney cut ice behind "Col. Prescott" in a natty racing sleigh.

Dr. McCann and James E. O'Donnell were the attraction of the day behind Jimmie's new purchase "Robert H." who shows a mark of 2.17 1-4.

AT THE NEW POST OFFICE

SOME FIGURES RELATIVE TO CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTS.

Postmaster Pearson Took Possession Yesterday and Will Appoint Officers Monday—Description of Interior.

During the past few days Postmaster Pearson has been busy at the new post office supervising the arrangement of the various offices and obtaining a general knowledge of the "lay" of the building. In this work he has received valuable assistance from Clerk Meade who is better acquainted with the building than any other person and who well understands the plans as drawn up and the arrangement of even the smallest detail in the building.

In examining the plans and contracts for the new building Postmaster Pearson has run across some interesting figures.

A SUN man dropped into the new building yesterday afternoon and was shown some statements bearing upon the contracts.

The contract for the basement was awarded to C. Thomas of Washington for $22,205, and was not completed on time. This work was finished in April, 1893. On May 28, 1892, Staples Bros., were given the contract to construct the superstructure, the same to be completed 15 months from the date of awarding the contract. But this was not done owing to the delay experienced by the non-completion on time of the work on the basement, and also because of the failure to secure laborers during the strike of the bricklayers. Staples Bros., however, completed their work, Jan. 3, 1894, and received $70,024.50. The contract for interior finish was awarded to E. Farnshaw & Son of Chicago, for $30,700, and the work was completed Nov. 20, 1894.

Several Lowell firms wanted to do the plumbing in the new building, but were under bid by the Dalton company of Chicago, whose figures were $4400. A time limit of 100 working days was placed on this contract, but it was not completed on time.

Farrell & Conaton proved close figurers and for having a sharp point on their pencil they were allowed to put in the heating and ventilating apparatus, at a cost of $6,800. The great bell and the clock in the tower were put in place by the E. Howard Watch & Clock company., at a cost of $1823.35. The marble used for the wainscotting, tiles, and base in the corridors and in the toilet rooms was supplied by the Barney Marble company of Swanton, Vt. The Bolin Manufacturing company of St. Paul, Minn., laid the oak finish and maple flooring, and John Booth of Chicago, Ill., furnished and placed in position the iron stairs.

The other contracts which were of minor importance were: glass, C. B. Coburn of this city; hardware to the Yale & Towne company.

The wainscotting and tiles in the first floor are of marble; in the second story the wainscotting is of panelled wood, the tiles of marble, and the flooring of maple. The trimmings throughout the building are of oxydized silver.

In the office there are 700 small letter boxes, 130 large letter boxes, 42 lock drawers, 4 local letter drops, 4 letter drops, 2 paper drops and one package drop.

A new departure and a valuable addition to the local post office department is the six inspector lookouts placed in different parts of the building and commanding a view of the entire work room. They are fitted with registers so that a person can unobserved take in whatever is transpiring in the work room.

It is not expected that the building will be all ready for occupancy before February 15 as the transom rods, door holders, door stops, screens and double acting doors in the money order department have not yet been placed in position.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Had An Idea of Sending a Petition to the Legislature.

Aldermen Varnum offered a solution which did not solve, at the meeting of the aldermen last evening.

After the council had labored in vain, the night preceding to choose a head, the wily Ward Two alderman thought to break the deadlock by asking the board to apply to the legislature for right to break the deadlock by the election of an additional councilman. He with his republican confreres saw something in such a move and of course they all favored it.

But the lone democrat Alderman Dow could discern nothing advantageous in such a move. He said that the board should go ahead and transact its own business and ballot for such city officials as are dependent on concurrent vote.

No definite action was taken on the proposition of "Daniel the diplomat."

Mayor Courtney appointed William Miles a constable.

The board then adjourned till next Tuesday evening.

Tuberculin Test Was Proved.

Farmers and town officials at Westford are satisfied that tuberculin is a good test in cattle. A cow owned by Charles F. Trott has had the appearance of suffering from tuberculosis and George T. Day, the local inspector, said the animal was afflicted with the disease. The tuberculin test was applied by an agent of the state cattle commissioners and the animal pronounced sound.

This did not satisfy the farmers and others, and Capt. Sherman H. Fletcher, as chairman of the board of selectmen, applied to the state cattle commissioners to allow the cow to be killed under inspection of their agent.

This was done today and the examination showed that the tuberculin test was correct.

DECISION GIVEN BY JUDGE HADLEY IN ILLEGAL VOTING CASE.

Witnesses for the Defence Were Not Credited With Giving a Correct Statement of Keegan's Whereabouts on That Election Afternoon.

When Judge Hadley had finished his dinner, yesterday noon, he sat on the Keegan case again and Patrick Fitzgerald, the second witness for the defence took the stand. On the afternoon of election day he met Keegan at his boarding house on Market street. They went up to precinct three of Ward One and stayed there until about three o'clock. They then went to Centralville by way of Broadway, Dutton, Market, Shattuck, Merrimack and Bridge streets. He was with Keegan from shortly after dinner until after five o'clock. At no time in the afternoon did Keegan go into Jackson hall.

Lawyer Kileski put the witness through a lengthy cross-examination.

During the cross-examination, Lawyer Kileski said to Fitzgerald: "Look at me; don't look at Mr. Donohue."

"Let him alone," replied the irrepressible Daniel, "he knows a work of art when he sees it."

"I guess he does, from the way he's been educated," said Kileski.

"The New York Sun isn't booming him though," were Donohue's parting words.

Joseph O'Neil was in precinct one when the vote was challenged. He saw the man and thought he was much bigger than Keegan. He was quite sure it was not Keegan who was challenged.

Michael Mullican, who was in precinct three all day, saw the man who was challenged. He was not Keegan. He was considerably larger.

Michael Crimmins told substantially the same story as did Fitzgerald. He went through a rigid cross examination.

This ended the defendant's case and Chief Davis was put on the stand by the government.

The chief related a conversation which he had with the defendant in which the latter said he couldn't remember any particular one who was with him in the afternoon.

Keegan acknowleged the fact in this conversation that he asked Pickup for work.

Edward Wesby, another employe of Mr. Pickup's, said that Keegan came there that morning and asked for work. There was fun when this witness was cross-examined for there was some slight suspicion of a religious feeling in the matter. During the examination of Fitzgerald, Lawyer Kileski brought out the fact that he is a member of the Wolf Tone Guards and Hibernians, and when Lawyer Donahue took hold of Wisby he asked him immediately if he was an A. P. A. He replied he had heard of them but was not a member "yet." He said: "What if I were is it any of your business?" The court then interposed and excluded the evidence including that relating to Fitzgerald.

Lawyer Donahue then made a lengthy argument of a forcible character, carefully reviewing the entire evidence. Lawyer Kileski followed with a strong argument.

Judge Hadley soon gave his decision, evidently putting little reliance in the witnesses for the defence. He imposed a fine of $150 on Keegan with a sentence of five months in jail.

SHUT OUT SMALL AUCTIONEERS.

Such the Plan of a Bill Now Pending in the Legislature.

A mild war has been begun in the ranks of the auctioneers of Boston and neighboring cities. The smaller auctioneers think they have good reason to fear an attempt on the part of the more wealthy and powerful auctioneers to freeze them out of the business.

They have already organized, under the title of the Auctioneers' association of Massachusetts.

The organization was perfected on Jan. 9, and the officers have since been taking steps to protect the interests of the members.

They have issued a circular which has been sent to about every auctioneer in Boston. It reads, in part, as follows: "A bill is pending before the present legislature making certain changes in the laws relating to auctioneers. The essential feature is to raise the fee from $2 to $500, without the power of depriving, and that no sales shall be held between sunset and sunrise.

"The auctioneers have organized, and ask your aid and cooperation in killing any laws that will compel the majority of auctioneers to lose their licenses."

They say that the horse auctioneers are the men who are at the bottom of the movement which they are going to fight, and the horse auctioneers say they are entirely innocent in the matter, and would not relish so big an increase in license fees.

MILITIA IS ARMED.

MOB SHOWS ITS INDIGNATION TOWARD SOLDIERS.

By Associated Press to THE SUN.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 19.—There are 3000 militiamen under arms today, being principally distributed along these streets where there is danger of outbreaks. The soldiers first appeared on 24th avenue and were greeted with jeers by the men and boys while women in tenement houses leaned out of the windows and shook their fists at the boys in blue.

The strikers are highly indignant that the troops should be called out, and General Master Workman Connolly says this act is likely to precipitate a general strike before tomorrow. The police made a tour of the dealers in firearms today and asked them not to sell arms to the strikers, but notwithstanding many of the strikers are armed.

Some of the men are drinking heavily and are getting into a dangerous frame of mind which increases as the strike lengthens. At the corner of 5th avenue and 20th street strikers attempted to put boulders on the tracks and otherwise obstructed the rails and attempts were made to stop the cars. Police made charges repeatedly and dispersed the crowds.

The first attack on the militia was made at the Halsey street depot when a private of Co. I, 47th Regiment, was set upon and beaten insensible, so that he was taken to the armory for treatment. The strikers are not controlled by the police as was shown by an ineffectual sortie on 1500 strikers and sympathizers who captured a Flushing car on Broadway, and carried away the conductor and motorman as prisoners.

The privates in the militia do not enter into duty with very good spirit on account of the results of the Buffalo strike two years ago. If they should be on duty more than two days it will be better for them to resign in order to keep their positions.

An order for 25,000 sandwiches and 100 gallons of coffee were served to the militia at noon.

PLAYING FOR GOALS.

Basket ball was hot stuff last night at the armory in the game between the Ambulance Corps and the Mechanic Phalanx. Some said it was a rough game but little blood was spilt, although the players were mixed up repeatedly, and the tactics and interference were similiar to those in foot ball.

An hour before the game started the gallery was filled with ladies, and when the game started the crowd was the largest yet, in fact at times the crowd under the gallery was so large that it interfered with the playing not a little.

Capt. Wenden of the Phalanx won the toss and Soule who played with the Corps took the ball. The first dash was tame and in four minutes the Phalanx caged it by Tuttle. They followed this performance by another goal.

Then the Corps forced the work and quickly tied the score. The half ended with the ball in the center.

The second half was even more exciting than the first and clinching was a tactic resorted to by the Phalanx repeatedly. The goal first secured by the Corps was tied by the Phalanx making the total 9 to 9. Then the Phalanx got a snap goal unexpectedly owing to the ball getting in the crowd and being returned to the open space and caged without the interference from the Corps who thought the whistle had been blown. The final score was 18 to 9, or 6 goals to 3.

The cheering was pretty vigorous at all times but the Corps was clearly outplayed.

C Company.	Position.	Ambulance.
Ashworth	home	McCurdy
Wenden	center	Soule
Colby	l. c	Cahill
Varnum	r. c	Raymont
Livingston	goal	Foss
Berry	r. g	Myers
Heath	l. g	Gilbert

Standing of the Clubs.

	Games won.	Games lost.	Goals won.	Goals lost.
Putnam Guards	2	0	11	2
Phalanx	2	0	11	3
Ambulance Corps	0	2	3	11
Cadets	0	2	2	11

Notes of the Game.

The Phalanx appear to be the heaviest team.

It will be Greek against Roman when the Puts and Phalanx meet. Look out for trouble.

The players who cry out the loudest about rough play are generally the ones who play the roughest with their opponent.

Some players will deliberately trip up a man and then swear he didn't.

Loss of temper leads to some disagreeable side play, as witnessed once last night.

A system of penalties for fouls will soon be needed.

Co. M wants to enter and sent a representative to last night's meeting. This will necessitate a re-arrangement of the schedule. Under the old one the Cadets and Corps were to have played Monday night.

THE DUTY OF DEMOCRATS.

In the Contest for the Presidency of the Council.

The friends of Councilmen Mansfield and Garvey claim either can be elected president of the council if they get the twelve democratic votes. If this be so why not give them the twelve votes each for a few ballots and see whether a democratic president can be elected in this way.

If there is any means by which the democrats of the common council can elect a president it is incumbent on them to try it at the earliest opportunity.

AN ALLEGED DETECTIVE.

Says He Is Looking for a Lost Girl.

A man giving his name as Samuel Grant of Marblehead, stopped at the Farragut house last night. He claimed to be a detective in search of a niece, a girl about twenty years of age, named Snow, who left Lynn yesterday morning and is supposed to have eloped.

Mr. Grant registered as Mr. Hiller of Marblehead. He wears a special police badge and said he was appointed justice of the peace by Gov. Greenhalge, and that he carries police badges for his own use. He can put one of these badges upon a civilian and demand him to do his bidding under penalty of the law, so he says.

As Mr. Hiller, alias Grant, told a very improbable tale and wanted credit at the hotel, the writer did not regard him as an authorized detective and thought the story of the lost girl was a fake. He said he had notified the police to be on the lookout but Inspector Allen knew nothing of the case.

His Opinion Is Wrong.

Mr. Stevens, the journalist of St. Louis, who was here last week inquiring into the branching out of industries in the south, tells the Boston Post that the companies are favorable to the change.

THAT DEADLOCK

And How the Republicans Would Remedy It.

REPUBLICAN ALDERMEN REFUSE TO DO BUSINESS.

Where the Blame Rests and What Will be the Result.

The board of aldermen met last night and failed to do business on account of the deadlock in the common council.

What has the deadlock in the lower board to do with the upper board?

Why do not the aldermen go ahead with the city's business and send it down for concurrence?

Why do they assume that the council will not concur?

What prevents the aldermen from doing business? There is no deadlock there. Why neglect the business to be transacted and dilate upon a possible means of remedying the deadlock in the lower board?

Has the upper board done anything which the lower has failed to concur in? Nothing.

Why did not the aldermen at their last meeting elect the necessary officers and send them down for concurrence? They did not venture to ballot for any officer except city auditor. Why?

There is but one conclusion to be drawn from their action. It is extremely partisan. It has but one object and that is to secure all the offices for republicans.

What a farce it was for Alderman Varnum to suggest a petition to the legislature to empower them to elect a councilman at large! Just think of it. If the seven wise men would read the constitution they would find that any such councilman must be elected by the people.

But what care republican partisans for constitutions or charters; all they want is to secure the offices for their minions.

They want first, the presidency of the common council and next the offices of city clerk and city treasurer.

If they want the two last named offices so very much, why do they not elect a democratic president and take these two offices? That would not be satisfactory to a party that wants all the offices. The seven wise men in the upper board appear to the public to be playing a game of politics, but if that is the game why cannot democrats also play it?

Had the alderman any other purpose it seems to us that they would go ahead and elect all the appointive officers instead of stopping after choosing a republican candidate for auditor.

Had the republican councilmen made a proposition to their democratic colleagues to take the presidency of the council and the office of auditor for the offices of clerk and treasurer, it is probable that it might be considered. Or, if they want the latter offices and are willing to give up the former let them say so and that will undoubtedly receive due consideration. They have made no proposition, but by their action or rather inaction, they plainly show that they hope to induce some democrat to turn over in the role "cuckoo" and help them to carry their point, turn out all the democratic officials and elect republicans in their places.

They are waiting for what they will not get and they may as well realize now as later that they will be obliged to do what is fair.

A temporary president of the council can do business just as well as one elected permanently. Why do the republicans prevent him?

The only business proposition submitted to overcome the deadlock was that by Councilman Garvey when he offered a motion to authorize the temporary president to proceed with the regular business which was the appointment of committees.

The republicans voted down this proposition, but they did not offer any substitute.

What then is the conclusion to be drawn from the attitude of the republicans in both branches?

It is this: They are uncompromisingly partisan. They prostitute the interests of the city, its business and its welfare to a scramble for the spoils. They are a unit on that policy and so long as they maintain that attitude just so long will the democrats stand firmly together and until the republican sham is exposed, until the humbugs who pose as patriots and unite as a band of spoilsmen shall have received the public censure they so richly deserve.

The democrats of the city council are willing to do business, they have been willing to do business since inauguration day; the republicans are the obstructionists, the spoilsmen, the office seekers, because they refuse to compromise, they want all the offices, they want to overcome the democratic majority and they even threaten to ask the legislature for power to accomplish that end.

Let them try that and see if the legislature will so stultify itself as to assist in a raid for official spoils.

The democrats are ready even for that emergency, they are willing to do what is right, to perform the duties for which they were elected; but the republicans follow a different policy.

Worse Than in Lowell.

A great plea for the Haverhill strikers was made by the Herald, which analyse the cases of the strike. It shows conclusively that cut down after cut down has brought not only distress but caused widespread immorality.

In a comparison with Lawrence, Lowell and other textile cities, it is shown that the normal condition of Haverhill female operatives is far lower, speaking generally.

In a series of interviews by competent authorities, it appears that the great majority of operative make but little over $9 a week for the year. Taking the names of 92 girls off the pay roll they had worked 1027 weeks at $2.58 a week. The low wages paid to men is equally a matter of discussion.

It would appear that Lowell's poorly paid mill operatives are better off than the shoe shop girls, as the former work all the year while the latter average but little over eight months.

He Wants a Hearing.

This Is No Bluff.

It is strange that people will pay high prices for hardware, when Callahan & Sanborn, the hardware dealers of Merrimack square undersell all their competitors. The firm carries an immense stock and they estimate that in comparison with other Lowell dealers they are 10 to 30 per cent. lower.

A Severe Cut.

Mrs. Mulligan, who resides at 50 Pleasant street, fell against the sharp corner of some furniture at her home, cutting an artery and bleeding profusely. Dr. T. B. Smith dressed the wound and the injured woman is resting comfortably.

THEATRICAL NEWS.

At Dr. Court's Church.

The annual meeting of the First Presbyterian church was held last evening in the vestry. Rev. Dr. Court called to order.

The financial secretary reported that during the year $1195.30 had been received from pew rentals. The treasurer's report showed receipts of $895.50 from other sources and a balance of $122.37 now in the treasury. David W. Dewar presented the report of the debt fund. During the year $201.75 has been added to it.

Officers were elected as follows:

President, Isaac McLean; clerk, Dudley J. Boncard; treasurer, Hector Sutherland; financial secretary, Andrew Jamieson; treasurer of debt fund, David W. Dewar; auditors, David Dewar, Thomas McKeen and Thomas Sutherland; trustees for three years, John McDonald, Thomas McKee and Andrew Rogers.

The report of the Willing Hands society was presented and showed receipts of $87.15. It was also stated that the church had given $121 for missions.

Dr. Court spoke briefly before adjournment.

Ladies to Go Sleighing.

The Ladies of the G. A. R., at their meeting last evening, talked about a sleigh ride to Chelmsford Center, to Mr. Caverley's residence in the near future. The national president made a visit here, Thursday.

You may think our statements about selling fine tailor-made Suits and Overcoats for as low as $8.95, $11, and $15, when appearing in an advertisement, are exaggerated.

SOME BAGGAGE CASES.

Girls in Court for Illegal Removal of Their Effects—Drunkenness Cases Disposed of.

Eight drunks.

Four were released.

Malvina Kirkpatrick has gone to the farm for four months. Mary Manning will do six months at jail.

Jennie Batcheider was arrested on a capias. She had been on probation for removing baggage and failed to appear in court. She was sent to the farm for vagrancy.

George Lovasceur, an intelligent and well educated man with an uncontrollable appetite for drink, was sent to the workhouse.

Fred H. Kimball, who nobody knew, was charged with drunkenness and larceny of three pairs of shoes and a pair of overshoes from the store of Eugene Twitchell. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20.

Lizzie Barnes was in court for illegally removing baggage. This is one of "Pa" Sam Smith's cases. Smith is a man who runs a boarding house on Appleton street and who has many cases in court. Lawyer Donohue, for the defendant, promises an interesting case next Tuesday, when it will be tried.

BOWLING NEWS.

The "cops" had their best team out last night and made the Home club "bite the dust." The game was a very good exhibition and the bowling was quite even. "Jim" McLaughlin had his spurs on and knocked down pins in elegant style, putting up a total of 529, and was the only man to pass the 500 notch.

The star plays of the evening were made by Hurley, who got 6-7-10, and Connors, who made 5-6. The score:

Police—Donaldson 419, Brosnahan 468, Connors 446, Hurley 498, McLaughlin 529; total 2360.

Home club—Anderson 459, Baker 468, Brown 451, Kittredge 419, Williamson 480; total 2274.

Second Division.

Contestants in the second division were the Belvideres and the Exploders.

But the Exploders did not explode as they might, and the Quality hill lads came out ahead with 20 pins to the good. The score was as follows:

Belvideres—Rogers 417, Mason 406, Wright 357, Boardman 363, Halstead 427; total 1970.

Exploders—McElholn 385, Cannon 354, Fox 399, Ahlberg 369, Donohue 447; total 1954.

THE HAVERHILL strike is becoming more serious daily. The strikers will soon be suffering from want.

REP. HAYES introduces a new and expressive phrase in reference to the license commissions. He says "they are come-atable bodies," and so they are.

BILLS ARE to be introduced in the legislature providing for a more perfect operatives' particulars bill and for the reduction of the hours of labor to 54 per week. Is that what scares the mills to the south?

MR. T. F. HAGGERTY of Woburn has scored in the post office contest and will serve in that capacity during the pleasure of the president. He had the inside track with the men of influence, although there were several strong candidates against him.

THE ANNUAL meeting of the Carpet company last week showed a loss of $33,600 chiefly from a shrinkage of wool. With free wool the company should soon be able to retrieve this loss. If it had not kept its works idle so long its loss might not have been so heavy.

EX-MAYOR PICKMAN seems to have a lighter step as he walks along the streets since the weight of executive responsibility was lifted from his shoulders. If office-holding has its honors and emoluments, it has also its cares and responsibilities which cannot be shifted.

GOV. GREENHALGE demands better police protection in country towns. Let mounted officers be put on patrol in unprotected districts and there will be fewer burglaries, fewer carriages stolen and fewer bank defaulters allowed to escape by carriage along country roads.

YOU CAN rely upon THE SUN to give you the news of Lowell and whatever is of real importance elsewhere. It does not pad its columns with stuff which is of no interest to the public. You can get the news in THE SUN without spending valuable time in searching for it; and besides it is futile to search a paper for what it does not contain.

GOV. GREENHALGE can cover himself with glory by standing firmly against the pardon of the railroad officials who violated the law by causing a riot at Abington. To free them will be to interfere with the just sentence of the law. It will be an unjust discrimination and will prove that justice cannot be dealt out equally to all in Massachusetts. Will the governor leave himself open to that charge? That is what the people want to know.

THE NEW president of the French republic is above all a man of business, a millionaire ship owner who has distinguished himself in parliament by his great foresight and sagacity on business questions. His election will probably effect a reform in the tariff or a reduction in protective duties. He enters office with the enmity of all the disturbers, socialists, radicals, revolutionists, monarchists and others. He will have to rule with a firm hand to restrain such opposition within proper bounds.

IT IS a considerable time since Simon B. Harris got his leg pulled as he did in Little Canada while trying to walk into Cyrille Constantineau's drug laboratory. Cyrille's clerk claims to know his business and Simon B. Harris claims to know his. Simon was going into that laboratory on business when the clerk as a mere matter of business thought of shutting the door and jammed Simon's leg. Simon came away without evidence to sustain a case and no doubt a certain clerk is singing the popular song for "One of His Legs is Longer Than it Really Ought To Be."

IT IS clear the democrats of congress cannot pass a currency bill in the face of republican opposition. Senator Sherman has drafted a bill which may form the basis of a compromise between both parties. It authorizes the issue of five year, 3 per cent. bonds, the employment of the proceeds either for current expenses or for the redemption of United States notes. It also authorizes the issue of 3 per cent. coin certificates in small denominations to meet the popular demand and permits national banks to issue notes to the par value of the bonds deposited for circulation. After discussion some of the provisions may be altered or dropped but the whole measure serves to offer acceptable ground for a compromise between all the financial factions. Something of the kind should be done for the relief of the treasury.

SOME OF the would be reformers of Boston want a legislative committee appointed to investigate the administration of Boston affairs during the past year. There is no specific charge of corruption but the whole is done by cheap imitators of Parkhurst and Lexow.

NINETEEN BALLOTS and no choice. There may be 930 and no choice. The republicans imagine they will persuade some democrat to vote with them for president but they will be disappointed. There are no democratic cuckoos this year.

A LECTURER on meteors informs us that there is a chilliness indicated by 459 degrees below zero, between the stars. Actors and actresses need not be told that there exists a coolness between stars; but the degree has not been fixed.

If Lowell isn't careful, the state will steal that textile school idea. In fact, we fear it has done so already.—Lawrence Sun.

What's the odds if the state school is only located in Lowell?

THERE IS to be a great contest between steam and electricity in New Hampshire. The steam railroads are using all their influence against the construction of electric lines.

Lowell's common council should put on the gloves and settle its difficulties that way, if in no other—Lawrence Sun.

They're now in training for such a settlement.

How They Are Caused and Avoided In Window Tight Rooms.

Several years ago in the fall of the year I was sick for weeks, and when at last I was able to sit up I sat in my sitting room, which faced the northwest, during the daytime, and wishing to see the passing I had my place near a large window. The room had an open grate, also furnace heat, and the thermometer easily registered 70 to 75 degrees, but with all this warmth there was a draft, as I thought, on my head and neck.

Every one said the cold air came in at the window sash. I sent for the weather strip man, and of course he discovered, or thought he did, the cause and put on his rubber molding so that the sash when closed was tight.

"Now," he says, "you will have no more trouble in that direction."

The next cold snap the same old gale of wind appeared. When my doctor came in, I spoke to him in regard to it, when he informed me that it was not the cold air from outside that I felt, but the warm air of the room, which went to the top of the window, struck the cold glass, cooled and then "fell down" as the cold air would had not the casing been airtight. He then said, "Drop your curtain about one-third and keep it there."

I did as he directed, and the gale stopped, and I had no trouble after that. He told me that the same trouble existed in most houses, even those that were well heated in the halls and bedrooms, the heat going to the top, cooling and falling back, so that one coming from a warm room down stairs and going up would often think that there must be windows open above. Of course double windows would remedy this cooling off process in the rooms, but with the curtains down a little they prevent the instant cooling of the warm air, and there is your draft. You will notice that these "drafts" are about during the day more than at night and always less in the room where there is a lamp. Why? Simply when you light your lamps or the gas you draw down the shades, and the heat does not strike the cold glass.—Boston Transcript.

Computation Useful and Available—How to Kill a Horse—Treatment of Toothache and Deciduous Teeth.

It is desirable—in fact, indispensable—for good work that a farmer should know how many acres are in his field. Otherwise he cannot apportion seed or manure for it, nor can he tell how much time it should take to plow, harrow or cultivate it. A good cotton cord, the size of a plow line, should be kept for this purpose. To make one, buy 67 feet of cotton rope an inch round, fasten a ring at each end and make these rings precisely 66 feet apart. This is four rods. Tie a piece of red rag in the center. One acre of ground will be a piece four of these cords long and 2½ wide, equal to 16 by 10 rods, making 160 square rods to an acre.

The advantage of the rings is that one person can measure also by driving a stake in the ground to hold the rope while he stretches it out. The rope should be soaked in tar and then dried. This will prevent its shrinking.

Last year a neighbor of the writer had a heavy sod plowed by contract at $2.50 per acre. Three persons stopped it off. One said it was four acres, another made it a little over five, and the third said it was 3¼ acres. The contractor sent over and got this rope, and all five men measured it, and it was found to be just 3¼ acres. He had paid to have the grass cut off it for three years $1 per acre, or $5 each season, counting it to be five acres in extent, thus losing $4.50 through ignorance.

Get a measuring line, and when not in use put it away, so that the hands cannot get at it, or they will be very apt to cut a piece off it to tie up harness, thus making it worthless for measuring purposes.

How to Kill a Horse.

The Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has issued a card showing how horses may be killed scientifically. The information is especially for policemen, who are ordinarily called upon to dispose of sick or suffering animals.

To shoot a horse so as to kill it instantly it is only necessary to aim so that the bullet will enter the brain by passing through a spot in the middle of the forehead above the eyes. The card issued by the society bears a drawing of a horse's head, showing the exact spot.

How to Treat Toothache.

It is hard to cure a bad toothache of several days' continuance. A hypodermic of morphine only postpones the evil day, and usually the patient is respectfully referred to the dentist. The tooth should not be extracted while the jaws and gums are inflamed and the latter swollen, and it is the physician's duty to treat the case until the above conditions are removed.

Always keep a small vial containing the following mixture: Chloroform, gtt. x.; glycerin, gtt. x.; sat. sol. ac. carbol, gtt. x.; morphine, gr. j., with a small wad of absorbent cotton. If the offending tooth has a cavity or decayed surface, saturate a small pellet of cotton with the above mixture and put into the cavity or against the decayed surface, as the case may be. Never pack the cotton in, or the greater will be the trouble, but have the pellet small enough to enter without crowding. In most cases this will end the trouble. When the gums are swollen and tender, paint two or three times, two minutes apart, with a 4 per cent solution of cocaine.

The patient may have been eating a good deal of fruit. The tongue and mucous membrane of the mouth are pale, with sour stomach, and the next day the toothache will return.

Give ten grains of subcarbonate of bismuth and ten grains of phenacetine at once, and a similar dose before each of the three following meals, with a laxative, if needed, and stop all fruit for a few days, and it will not return. The same powder every two hours, with cessation of fruit eating, will stop the persistent, tormenting neuralgias.

How to Cream Butter and Sugar.

When using a spoon or whisk for beating, take long upward strokes, the more rapid the better. The spoon should touch the bottom of the bowl each time, and the motion must be regular. Another way to beat it is to use a circular motion. In this case the side of the spoon is kept close to the side of the bowl. The spoon is moved rapidly in a circle, carrying with it a portion of the ingredients. This kind of beating can be applied only to a very thick mixture. It is the best method for creaming butter and sugar.

How to Care For the Deciduous Teeth.

The child receives its first temporary tooth about the fifth month after birth, the dentition being completed at the age of 2 years. These teeth should be cleaned with a soft brush and warm water. The child usually retains these teeth until the eruption of the permanent set, the first permanent tooth appearing about the sixth year. The deciduous teeth should be carefully watched, and when a tooth shows decay consult your dentist and have it filled. At this stage the filling is not expensive and will save the child much pain and trouble from an aching tooth. The early extraction of the deciduous teeth often causes the irregularities of the permanent set. They should be retained until the jaw has fully expanded to receive the permanent teeth. Teach the child the necessity of keeping the teeth clean and pure. The early use of the toothbrush will establish a habit that will, in after years be considered a necessity to health and personal cleanliness.

How to Estimate Etiquette.

Nice manners are invaluable. The charm of politeness cannot be overestimated. True etiquette is inborn. It is rarely acquired in mature life. Old men and women who try to become gentlemen and ladies have some sad lessons to learn. Only born gentlemen and gentlewomen realize the importance of good manners at home on all occasions. Boys and girls reared in a family where company manners prevail all the time, and where each is considerate of all the others' feelings and thinks of his comfort last, will never outgrow them.

OPEN REBELLION

TWELVE RIOTERS KILLED BY THE MILITIA.

Internal Conflicts Threaten the New Born State.

HONOLULU, Jan. 11.—There were no fresh developments in the threatened uprising here until last Sunday afternoon (Jan. 6), when Deputy Marshal Brown and a squad of police under Captain Parker left for Waikaikai with orders to search the premises of Henry Bertlemann, a prominent royalist, for arms and ammunition.

On arrival there, Parker proceeded to read his warrant. When half way through, a volley was fired by a crowd of natives under a shed in the rear of Bertlemann's house, and Charles Carter and Lieutenant Holle fell wounded. The police charged and drove the natives out, when the latter retreated to the brush, keeping up a desultory fire. As the police only numbered eight, and there were three or four times as many natives, they returned to the house, taking with them three of the rebels whom they had captured in the melee, during which some 60 shots were fired.

The rebels surrounded the house again, firing into it repeatedly. Leaving one man to guard the prisoners, the officers returned the fire, but without effect, as it was dark and their assailants could not be seen. Realizing that their case was desperate and that word must be got to town at all hazards, it was decided that Brown and Barker should make a dash for their horses, which were tied near the house. This was done with success, and they were soon at the nearest telephone.

Volunteers to the Front.

Within two minutes after receiving the telephone account of the fight, a detail of 82 men from the regulars stationed at the government headquarters were ordered out. The command was given to Lieutenant King. Volunteers were called for, and nearly every man in the barracks stepped to the front. As soon as they came within shooting distance of the scene of action the natives fired a parting volley and fled.

Soon after the deputy marshal came up, and the premises were thoroughly searched. The Japanese servant brought to light several pistols and revolvers.

At daylight a large force of natives, who had taken up a strong position on the slope of Diamond Hill, attacked King's forces. After standing fire about an hour and finding the natives had the advantage of numbers and position, King moved his forces to San Souci, a pleasure resort with telephonic communications. Shortly after the telephone was used Lieutenant Coyne and 25 more regulars were sent. The number of insurgents were variously estimated from 1 to 200. With Coyne's force was sent an 8-pound field piece. President Murray of the Citizens' Guard, with 25 mounted policemen, went out into a road leading toward the insurgents. The first intimation that Murray's force had of an enemy was a shower of bullets which did no harm. Had the natives waited a little longer Murray's forces could have been annihilated.

This fight occurred on the side of a mountain, where a scriated side forms an almost inaccessible valley of little width. It was the object of the government troops to drive the rebels around the base of the mountain, from which there could be no escape, except over the famous Paoli road, which 10 or 12 men could hold against a small army.

Martial Law Proclaimed.

On Monday morning martial law was proclaimed and all saloons were closed. The news of the death of Carter, who was a popular young lawyer and was recently elected a member of the legislature, intensified the general fe ing, and it would have gone hard with the assassins had they not been strongly guarded.

By noon all the stores were closed and there were few people on the streets. The street cars and busses were stopped, and the only excitement was at the marshal's office, where arms were being distributed. All persons not engaged in the military or police forces were commanded to deliver all arms or ammunition in their possession to the marshal within 24 hours.

After conferring with Captain Murray, Captain Zeigler and a company of regulars were dispatched to his aid, taking with him one Australian field piece. The troops advanced and forced the rebels into the brush. It is certain that many of them were wounded. The only man wounded on the government side was Captain Ludwig. Then the first prisoners were taken, seven in number, and from them it was learned that the leaders of the rebels were Sam Nowlin, former colonel of the Queen's Household Guard, and Robert Wilcox, who was the leader of the revolution in 1887, the other prominent ones being half whites, formerly in the service of the queen. After the first surrender the natives came dropping into the government camps in bunches, until there were soon more prisoners than troops. The prisoners claimed they had 600 rifles, but only 500 men were arrested.

Many Natives Killed.

At 6 o'clock the government forces camped for the night, pursuit being impossible in the dense brush. While this was going on, the tug Elu, with a field piece and a detail of sharpshooters, left Honolulu, and in half an hour was in a position to shell from the rear of the natives, whose camp fronted King's command. A few well-directed shots scattered them like sheep, one shot falling directly into their camp. It is known that five men were killed here and a large number wounded.

The natives were pursued by Lieutenant Coyne's company as far as the nature of the ground allowed. A shot from his field piece scattered a crowd of them who appeared on the edge of the crater, and four dead bodies were the result. Thirty-six rifles, two 100-pound boxes of cartridges and two dynamite bombs were found in an improvised fort; also a lot of clothing, including a United States navy dresscoat. Squads of troops scoured the summit of Diamond Head, but no natives were found. Two cases of gin were found and brought to headquarters. After being examined by Dr. Cooper, the army surgeon, he pronounced them poisoned, and they were destroyed.

From natives captured during the day, it was ascertained that the captain of the little steamer Waimanal was responsible for the landing of the arms with which the natives were supplied. The entire crew were arrested. The mate confessed, and, when confronted with his testimony, the captain also acknowledged his guilt. The government claims to have evidence of the whole transaction, from the original purchase until their final disposition.

During the day a large number of prominent royalists were arrested, including the editor of The Holomua, which paper was suspended, the business manager being arrested also. Up to 4 p. m. Tuesday 34 of Honolulu's prominent royalists, not including natives, were under arrest.

The total number of rebels killed is estimated at 12.

Text of British Statesmen's Proposition to the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — William J. Creemer, a member of the house of commons, called upon President Cleveland yesterday in company with Secretary Gresham and presented to him a memorial signed by 354 members of the house of commons looking to the negotiation of a treaty providing for the submission to arbitration of any differences that may arise between the United States and Great Britain. Among the signers are the names of many distinguished men known to the American public. There are 232 Liberals, 71 Nationalists, 30 Unionists and 21 Conservatives on the list. It is said that this is the first time such a document has received the signatures of any Nationalist. The text of the memorial is as follows:

To the President and Congress of the United States of America:

In response to the resolution adopted by congress on April 4, 1890, the British house of commons, supported in its decision by Mr. Gladstone on June 16, 1893, unanimously affirmed its willingness to co-operate with the government of the United States in settling disputes between the two countries by arbitration.

The undersigned members of the British parliament, while cordially thanking congress for having, by its resolution, given such an impetus to the movement, and called for such a response from our government, earnestly hope that congress will follow up its resolution and crown its desire by inviting our government to join in framing a treaty which shall bind the two nations to refer to arbitration disputes which diplomacy fails to adjust.

Should such a proposal be made, our heartiest efforts would be used in its support, and we shall rejoice that the United States of America and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland have resolved to set such a splendid example to the other nations of the world.

Not Very Complimentary.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—John Burns yesterday made an address on America to the voters of Battersea. He spoke warmly of the hospitality he had received. He said there were more slums and degradation in New York than he ever saw in London. He said that the English judicial bench was theoretically perfect compared with that of America, where the capitalist bribed the legislature, corrupted the senate, squared the magistracy, chloroformed the military and bulldozed every civic official. The American government never had a fair chance, because monopolists possessed and ruled it.

Humbert's Congratulations.

ROME, Jan. 19.—King Humbert has telegraphed General Baratieri, commander of the Italian armies in eastern Africa, who recently defeated the Abyssinians, as follows: "The successes against an enemy numbering three times as many as your force are a fresh triumph of civilization over barbarism. With such soldiers, led by a valiant and intelligent chief like yourself, our country has nothing to fear in the future and is forearmed against all peril."

Two Were Frozen to Death.

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 19.—William Pitt, Thomas Buck and Joseph Erminer, each about 14 years of age, ran away from St. Vincent's Industrial school here a few days ago. Yesterday afternoon the bodies of Buck and Erminer were found in the woods near Herkimer. They had been frozen to death. Pitt was found in a barn near by, so badly frozen that his legs will have to be amputated.

Slasher Sentenced.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Antonio Constenio was yesterday sentenced to five years in state prison for assault and battery upon Mrs. Theresa Olivia, with intent to murder, and of assault and battery with a knife upon her husband, Guiseppe Olivia. The offenses were committed on the night of Dec. 9 last.

Help the Needy!

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 19.—The difficulty of feeding the hungry is daily becoming greater. A committee consisting of clergy of all denominations will issue an appeal to the world for help. Rev. Mr. Graham is the secretary, and to him all correspondence may be addressed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19. — The supreme court yesterday dismissed the application of ex-Captain Doherty and his wardmen, Hock and Meehan, to set aside the action of the police commissioners in dismissing them from the force after the evidence before the Lexow committee.

Bourgeois Called Upon.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—President Faure received ex-Minister Bourgeois yesterday and requested him to undertake the formation of a cabinet. M. Bourgeois declined to give a definite answer to the request, and asked that he be given time to consult with friends.

Two Sudden Deaths.

CANTON, N. Y., Jan. 19.—While taking in clothes from the line, Mrs. Gertrude Holmes was attacked by paralysis, and dropped dead. Her stepmother, seeing the woman fall, went into a fit, which resulted in her death almost immediately.

Furnished $25,000 Bail.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Ex-Police Captain Stephenson, who was convicted of bribery, has been admitted to bail in $25,000. His bondsmen are Theodore A. Stephenson, his brother, and John Berry.

Minnesota's Sensation.

ST. PAUL, Jan. 19.—The house yesterday adopted Mr. Faig's resolution to investigate the financial status of public funds. Faig said newspaper reports of illegal gains by state or other public treasurers gave the amount from $150,000 to $250,000. The reports showed over $300,000 of state funds deposited in banks that have failed.

Power of a Snowslide.

TELURIDE, Colo., Jan. 19.—A snowslide in Marshall Basin yesterday demolished the Cimarron stables and part of the Cimarron mill, twisted the Union tension tramway, knocked down the San Miguel consolidated electric light wires and did much other damage. No one was injured.

Death Was Instant.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Fred Fisher, a freight brakeman employed by the Boston and Albany railroad, was struck and instantly killed last night by a passenger train. Fisher stepped on the track to signal his own train, and owing to the snowstorm did not see the other train.

College Gymnasts to Meet.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 19.—Yale and Princeton have arranged for the first intercollegiate gymnastic meet ever planned in this country. It will be held at the Yale gymnasium on Feb. 27, and a program of 15 events has been arranged.

Elevator Rope Parted.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19. — Five men at work in the Long Island tunnel of the East River Gas company were badly injured by the parting of a rope in the elevator shaft. All the men were laborers.

LOOKS BRIGHTER

The New Year Shows Improved Conditions.

Situation in Canada Showing Healthy Signs.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, issued today, says: There are some good signs, but they do not as yet extend to business generally, which hesitates much as it has for months.

The industries are meeting a larger demand for some products since the new year began, but no definite improvement appears in prices of manufactured products or in wages. In the main, it is in a waiting condition, with much hope that positive improvement is not far off, but not very satisfactory evidence of it as yet.

Wheat has sagged off 1 cent again, with western receipts only about half last year's. The department's estimate of 460,000,000 bushels, against less than 400,000,000 earlier in the season, points to a probability that the commercial estimates have been nearer the fact. Western receipts have fallen off of late, but no longer afford definite indication of the supply remaining, which some estimate as 60,000,000 smaller than a year ago, although the price does not answer to such reckonings.

Corn has declined 1½ cents, in spite of the very low government estimate of yield, receipts being now larger than of wheat.

Cotton has remained steady at 5¾ cents, with a fairly large movement.

The Metal Markets.

There is somewhat more doing in the iron and steel business, enough to cause a shade of lifting in prices for Bessemer iron and billets at Philadelphia, where there is also improved demand for finished products, but at Pittsburg all changes reported are downward. Orders for bar are not large, though better are expected, and barbed wire is in light demand at 1.85 cents.

Speculation has depressed tin a fraction, the reported aim being to dislodge the holdings of the syndicate.

Sales of 250,000 pounds of lake copper at 9.87 cents are reported, though Calumet and Hecla is held at 10 cents.

Lead has been strengthened to 3.15 cents, and the reduction of 12½ to 15 per cent in wages is expected to start the tinplate works.

Stringency In Boots and Shoes.

Embarrassment in boots and shoes does not lessen, and many manufacturers are getting near the end of their orders, while the disposition to restrict orders at the advanced prices demanded seems to be growing more general. Shipments are nevertheless larger than in any previous year to date—163,013 cases, against 143,610 two years ago. Leather is less active, as most manufacturers are waiting to see what they can afford to buy.

Woolens and Cottons.

In wool there are fairly large dealings, 10,678,815 pounds in January thus far, against 11,837,900 in 1893, much of the increase being in foreign wool. Considerable sales of carpet wool are reported, and a better demand for territory, while Ohio XX is quoted at 17 cents. The important London sale of Australian has caused some hesitation. The opening of heavy weight woolens is believed to indicate a decline of 30 to 40 cents in goods costing $3 or over, and 12½ to 20 cents in goods costing from $2 to $3 per yard, but many makes have not yet been shown. While there is much waiting in this industry, there is evident a hopeful determination to meet foreign competition.

Prices of cotton goods are still depressed, print cloths to 2¾ cents, the lowest ever known, and leading ginghams to 4½ cents, and transactions are fairly large.

Decrease In Failures.

Failures for the week have been 375 in the United States, against 407 last year.

The Canadian Outlook.

Bradstreet's review says today: Toronto reports a moderate volume of trade, with some improvement in orders for heavy and seasonable goods and a fair outlook.

More than usual dullness is reported by Montreal jobbers, the redeeming feature in the province of Quebec being that purchases have long been confined to actual wants, so that liabilities are smaller than usual.

In Nova Scotia, the volume of trade for the year has about equalled expectation, although prices are disappointingly low and profits correspondingly interfered with.

The situation in Newfoundland remains unchanged, with the outlook not encouraging. There are 64 business failures reported from the Dominion of Canada this week. Last week the total was 53, and one and two years ago, respectively, it was 48 and 39.

Looks Brighter For Dover Bank.

DOVER, N. H., Jan. 19. — President Brewster of the Dover National bank and Bank Examiner Dorr visited Boston yesterday and examined the contents of the bank's strong box. Securities and other paper to the amount of $37,250 were found intact, as Abbott had predicted. Up to date the only defalcation known is the $10,000 note.

Was Heavily Encumbered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Edgewood, the former home of Chief Justice Chase, and till yesterday the property of his daughter, Mrs. Sprague, was sold at auction yesterday for $44,000, which, it is said, reaches only the amount of the encumbrance on the estate.

Situation Unchanged.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Jan. 19.—There has been no important change in the strike outlook. The strikers hold meetings almost daily for the mustering of non-union men into the union. In this work they claim to be making good headway.

From Frying Pan to Fire.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—Edgar W. Warren is under arrest charged with forgery in Haverhill. Warren completed a six months' sentence in the house of correction here yesterday, and he was arrested as he was leaving the institution.

Admits His Guilt.

Colossal Swindling.

THE BAY STATE LEGISLATURE

The Heating of Street Cars Engages Attention—The Committee on Taxation and Foreign Corporations.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—A bill was introduced in the senate extending the time within which exceptions may be filed in the supreme judicial and supreme courts from three days, as now, to 20 days; also a bill make the judgments of police, district and municipal courts prima facie evidence on appeal in the same manner as an auditor's report.

Petitions were presented for legislation to provide for a county courthouse at Quincy, to cost $70,000; relative to legislation for contempt of court and providing that all courts shall have power to punish by fine (not to exceed $100) or imprisonment (not to exceed 30 days) contempts of their authority, provided that such power to punish shall not be construed to extend to any criminal act or misdemeanor, punishable under information or indictment, or to any cases except misbehavior of any person in their presence or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice; that county commissioners be allowed to release truants on probation or transfer them to private families; that no business before county commissioners, in which opposing parties appear, shall be determined unless there are three disinterested commissioners present and acting.

Bills introduced: Providing for heating street cars in November, December, January, February and March to a temperature of not less than 50 degrees; raising the age of consent to 18 years; to regulate steam engineering and requiring engineers to be examined and procure licenses; to provide for the preservation of public records by the use of a standard ink; to more effectually protect manufacturers from the use of counterfeit labels and stamps, the word "label" to include impressions made on leather, soap, tobacco, etc., and also marks woven into textile fabrics; providing that insurance contracts once made shall not be cancelled during the term for which they are written, unless by the mutual consent of both parties interested; extending the authority of the commissioners of inland fish and game to the propagation, protection and preservation of birds and animals "in like manner as to fish."

The committee on taxation was, by request, discharged from further consideration of the bill requiring foreign corporations to send a list of shareholders to the tax commissioner for purposes of taxation, and the matter was referred to the mercantile committee.

America's Wool Center.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—The Boston Commercial Bulletin prints today a statistical review of the wool trade of the world. In the volume of transactions for the last year, London stands first; Buenos Ayres, second; Boston, third, and Sydney, fourth. Of the American markets, Boston is first, with sales of 166,000,000 pounds. Boston sold seven times as much domestic wool as New York. The capital backing the Boston trade aggregates $50,000,000. The first result of free wool on American markets has been to increase Boston's commerce. The Hub's lead is largely due to the fact that Massachusetts is the largest consumer of wool in her mills of any state in the Union, and that New England contains more than half the combing and carding machinery in the country.

Only Three Rounds.

CONEY ISLAND, Jan. 19.—The attempt of Jack Dempsey, the once famous Nonpareil, to give battle to Tommy Ryan last night was a disheartening and disgusting exhibition. Dempsey was never in the game. His actions were those of a drunken man. The crowd clamored for a cessation of the fight, and at the end of the third round the decision was given in favor of Ryan. The bout was announced for 15 rounds.

Druggists to Be Sued.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 19.—Quite a sensation has been created among the druggists of this state. A New York man has instituted suits against some of the leading druggists for handling a medicinal preparation which the moving party claims is an article patented in Germany and this country, and the article used by respondents is an imitation.

Pension Figures.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Senator Hawley's amendment to the pension appropriation bill making all pensions not less than $6 a month will increase the pension appropriations $1,691,088 each year. There are 36,620 pensioners now on the rolls at $2 a month, 9921 at $4 and 1000 at $3.

Sugar Trust's Rival.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—Camden will soon have one of the largest sugar refineries in the country. The plant will cost nearly $3,000,000, and will have an output of about 4000 barrels of refined sugar a day. It will be run in opposition to the Sugar trust.

U. S. TREASURY

Lively Row in the House on Pension Questions.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — The heavy withdrawals of gold for export from the sub-treasury at New York, yesterday, were not wholly unexpected by the treasury officials, as the indications since the first of the week have made it probable that the withdrawals for shipments today would be exceptionally large. Nevertheless, yesterday's transactions have intensified the fear of another bond issue, and in a measure dampened the spirit of hopefulness that has pervaded the treasury department for some days past.

It is, however, stoutly maintained that the record for the present fiscal year will show a decided improvement in the financial condition of the treasury over that of last year, and the steady increase in the receipts from customs and internal revenue sources, it is pointed out, gives promise of a speedy return to a period when the receipts will more than equal the expenditures.

It is figured that the customs receipts are sure to make a decided advance after Feb. 1, when the spring importations begin, and that the revenues from whisky withdrawals the remainder of the year are almost certain to reach a point even above the normal. With the sugar bounty burden of $12,500,000 a year removed, and the prospect of receipts from the income tax amounting to $20,000,000 or more before June 1, a more hopeful condition of affairs, it is said, is confidently to be looked forward to.

The interest payments on the public debt between now and the first of the coming fiscal year will aggregate about $14,000,000, and yet only about $2,500,000 of this amount (interest on the late $100,000,000 bonds issue) is in excess of the interest payment of last year. Mr. Carlisle's estimate of a deficiency of $20,000,000 for the year, notwithstanding the fact that it has already reached $37,000,000, it is believed, will be found to be approximately correct.

Last year at this time the expenditures exceeded the receipts by over $37,600,000, while for the same period in this year the deficiency is about $27,500,000, or over $10,000,000 less.

With the single exception of the month of April next, when a large interest payment becomes due, it is confidently expected that each month after this, during the remaining five months of the year, will show an excess of receipts over expenditures.

On Sherman's Lines.

Representative Walker of Massachusetts has introduced a bill similar to that proposed in the senate by Senator Sherman on the financial question. Representative Walker's bill, while on the same general lines as the Sherman bill, differs in details. It authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue proposals from time to time for four years' bonds, such as are described in the act of July 14, 1870, to authorize the refunding of the national debt, the bonds to be payable at the pleasure of the government after one year from date of issue and upon the expiration of three years, or bonds payable after three and upon the expiration of seven years, or bonds due on a certain day within three years from the date of such bonds, the secretary to have the selection regarding the term of the bonds. The bonds are to bear interest not exceeding 3 per cent.

The North and South.

There was another big row at the night session of the house last night, which grew out of the events which transpired last week. Feeling ran high and bitter words were spoken.

It started after the failure of an effort to increase the pension of the widow of General Abner Doubleday and to pension another widow who had performed services as voluntary nurse during the rebellion. Both bills were blocked by the obstruction of Jones (Dem., Va.). Cooper (Dem., Ind.) resented this and turned on Jones savagely, and with much temper he charged him with lack of chivalry in assaulting the fair sex.

Jones absolutely denied that there was any foundation for the statement that he was fighting women. "All I am fighting for," said he, "is against the granting of large pensions to the rich, powerful and influential."

"I question the motives of the gentleman from Virginia," retorted Cooper, hotly. "I believe he is actuated by the sentiment expressed by him last Friday night, when he said he was proud of the cause he had fought for in the trenches. Although he has taken an oath now to support the flag that floats above your head, Mr. Speaker (pointing to the American flag above the speaker's desk), he now displays toward it the same spirit of opposition he did when he struck at that flag 30 years ago. I have a right to say it, because he himself has said it."

Simpson (Pop., Kan.), Cox (Dem., Tenn.) and Moses (Dem., Ga.) were drawn into the controversy. Feeling ran high, and it looked as if a personal encounter might occur. Simpson continued to taunt Jones, declaring that he was not only surprised, but ashamed that a man should come from the south and say that he still believed in the lost cause.

Talbert (Dem., S. C.) at last came to Jones' rescue. He was white with rage, and while deprecating the continued appeal to sectionalism, asserted that such appeals usually came from men who were invisible in time of war and invincible in time of peace. "As to the 'lost cause,'" he said, "it is the everlasting cause, and never can be lost."

Jones got the floor just before the time for adjournment was reached. He branded Cooper's language toward him as language unworthy of a gentleman. "I want to say," he added, "that when the question was asked me last week I answered that I was proud of the lost cause. To say I believe every cause right was a slander. I always said and maintained evermore, as I do now, that the cause was right." At this point the hour of 10:30 p. m. arrived and the house stood adjourned under the rule. Had the debate lasted much longer it would probably have resulted in a personal combat.

The senate passed the army appropriation bill, carrying $23,000,000, and the bill which in effect advances General Schofield, in command of the army, to the rank of lieutenant general, held by Generals Sherman and Sheridan.

PEOPLE WASTE MUCH WATER

Some Pithy Points From Watter Board and Supt. Thomas' Reports to the City Council.

The annual report of the water board gives considerable attention to the driven well plant. The expenses incurred by it for the year were $193,310, as against $211,901 for the previous year.

The total receipts on account of water works were $200,780, and the expenses $23,011.74.

The contract with the Cook company is given at length. The terms with the Hydraulic Construction company are that after the yield reached 2,000,000 gallons per day, the amount of the contract price shall be paid, provided the water is of the same quality as at present obtained. 24 wells are now in operation and the water is of a good quality.

The exact yield will be determined soon. There is a balance to the credit of driven wells of $75,524.

There is material waste in the present consumption of water, the daily consumption being 29 gallons per capita, which does not compare favorably with other well governed cities.

If we reduce the daily consumption to a reasonable figure we should have driven well water in every house in the city. The water meter is the only remedy for the waste.

Attention is called to the attempts made during the year to revise the ordinance relating to the water board allowing it more power which was defeated in the common council. The hope is expressed that the present city council will treat the matter more considerately.

The late Richard B. Allen who was a member of the board, is mentioned in eulogistic terms and the report closes by complimenting the citizens upon the excellence of its water works which equal any in the country.

Supt. Thomas' Report.

In the report of Supt. Thomas much importance is laid upon the need of a 5,000,000 gallons daily capacity filter plant. Of the water used daily 3,500,000 gallons are unfiltered.

Some Pithy Points.

In illustrating the use and misuse of meters the following instance is given: During the summer a number of meters were placed in property without the knowledge of the owners. The results showed that one property of five tenements was paying $45 a year for water, which, if metered, would have cost $33.69, while another of the same number of tenements was paying $40.50 a year for water worth, metered, $194.88.

The board thinks that the city should own all water meters and do all ordinary repairs. While it believes in a universal meter system, it recognizes that it must be introduced gradually.

The police then charged and a short fight followed, resulting in the dispersing of the crowd and the arrest of 10 of the leaders.

A Survival of the Fittest.

Manchester mill men are not interested in the southern boom. Agent Knight of the Amory mills says: "It is simply a question of the survival of the fittest. The employes of these southern mills work 12, 14, all kinds of hours a day for any kind of wages. The railroads of the south discriminate in favor of the mills in that section. On the same class of goods we simply can't compete with them. We must bring them up to us or we must go down to their level. It does not affect us so much, as our goods are of finer quality."

KIRK STREET CHURCH.

Roll Call and Supper For the Members—Deacon Mack Will Retire in May.

The annual meeting of the Kirk Street church was held last evening at the vestry. Supper was served early in the evening.

Deacon A. G. Cumnock, as moderator, called to order. There were 125 members present. The report of the clerk and treasurer, Mr. A. L. Thompson, showed a satisfactory condition of things for the church. The receipts amounted to $2305.-12 and the expenses to $2276.42, leaving a balance of $28.70.

A satisfactory report was presented by Louis Alexander for the Sunday school, and there was also a report of the secretary and treasurer, Frank W. Hall. Mrs. Louis Alexander presented a report for the primary department; Miss Lucy Fay reported for the Ladies' Missionary society and Miss Avery for the Y. P. S. C. E.

Mr. E. P. Woods presented a voluminous report for the Central Mission school. He also reported on the work of the school.

Examining committee, the deacons, pastor, superintendent of Sunday school, clerk, Mrs. J. B. Trueworthy, Mrs. Gardner, Miss Lizzie Kennedy, Miss Julia Ward and Miss Mary Sewell; deaconesses, Miss Alice Merrill, Mrs. Aaron Brown and Miss Ellen R. Edgell; ushers, Messrs. Henry W. Hyde Ellsmore Webster, Arthur Wright and Harry Sewell; Central Mission, E. P. Woods, with Jacob Rogers, George W. Batchelder and Miss Edgell; clerk and treasurer, A. L. Thompson.

Sunday school, Superintendent, J. W. C. Pickering; assistant, Louis Alexander; primary department, Mrs. Alexander; secretary and treasurer, Frank W. Hall; advisory board, A. G. Cumnock, Samuel Sewell and Miss Lucy Fay.

Moderator Cumnock submitted an amendment to the by-laws to the effect that in future the deacons be elected for a term of six years, with one retiring each year and one elected to take his place. He thought this a better plan than keeping deacons in office year after year for an indefinite period. There was a number of young men growing up in the church and they should be given an opportunity of assuming some of the responsibility. Deacon Mack will have served 50 years a deacon next May he said, and for myself I intended to retire tonight but like Deacon Mack I think I shall wait now till 1896. We have as much love for the church as ever, but we think it better that other men should assume some of the responsibity.

Mr. George W. Batchelder asked if Mr. Cumnock's amendment made any provision as to how the deacons would be retired; for instance, who would retire in one year, two years, etc. Mr. Cumnock thought there would be no difficulty about that. The junior deacon might retire himself. Mr. S. H. Thompson spoke on the by-laws which he said were vague and indefinite. A committee consisting of Messrs. Thompson Burnham and Batchelder was appointed to revise and classify the by-laws and consider Deacon Cumnock's amendment.

Mr. H. B. Shattuck spoke on "Absentees."

A vote of thanks was tendered Deacon Cumnock for two beautiful floral decorations; and to Dea. Ward for his services at the Central mission school. $50 were donated for flowers and $200 for Sunday school.

WHO ARE POPULAR?

Married Men of Lowell Will Soon Determine This Question and the Most Popular Will Get a Fine Parlor Suite.

The voting in THE SUN'S parlor suite contest has already begun and the ballots are being polled. Next week the first result will be published. You can send in your ballots at once.

O'Donnell & Gilbride will have the parlor suite in one of their big show windows next week and it is sure to attract great attention.

Candidates for it will be numerous, and we note that the winner of THE SUN'S house lot contest is about to enter matrimony, which step will make him eligible for the parlor suite.

Of course when he gets his house built he will need a parlor suite. A suggestion is sufficient to the wise.

ON THE ICE TRACK.

More Good Trotting at Which Nearly All the Fast Horses Were Entered.

The track on the river was crowded yesterday with good horses and game drivers and while there were no set races, the improvised heats and brushes were far more interesting that the very "yallow" race of the day previous.

The finest heat of the day was between "Elsie Mac" C. R. Talbot's fyer and Bingham's old standby "Monkey Rolla" driven by "Doc" Evans. Monkey is a pacer and didn't take kindly to the loose footing of the track, and while he gamely went three heats a close second, he could not finish ahead of Elsie. Monkey was not up to his clip, neither was the Talbot mare.

Another interesting brush was that between Billy Farrell's "Black Pat" and a slick mare driven by Tom Molloy. Honors were even.

Then there were others.

Dan Osgood set a fast pace behind his pacing colt "Pagan."

P. Keyes, Sr., drove his favorite "Black Dan" who was with the leaders.

Tom Lennon and Frank Feeney cut ice behind "Col. Prescott" in a natty racing sleigh.

Dr. McCann and James E. O'Donnell were the attraction of the day behind Jimmie's new purchase "Robert H." who shows a mark of 2.17 1-4.

Frank S. Bean had a fast bay.

Hon. Chales D. Palmer and wife enjoyed the sport behind a very promising colt.

Frank Harris had out one of his fastest.

John Cross held the awnings over "Baby Lambert."

AT THE NEW POST OFFICE

SOME FIGURES RELATIVE TO CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTS.

Postmaster Pearson Took Possession Yesterday and Will Appoint Officers Monday—Description of Interior.

During the past few days Postmaster Pearson has been busy at the new post office supervising the arrangement of the various offices and obtaining a general knowledge of the "lay" of the building. In this work he has received valuable assistance from Clerk Meade who is better acquainted with the building than any other person and who well understands the plans as drawn up and the arrangement of even the smallest detail in the building.

In examining the plans and contracts for the new building Postmaster Pearson has run across some interesting figures.

A SUN man dropped into the new building yesterday afternoon and was shown some statements bearing upon the contracts.

The contract for the basement was awarded to C. Thomas of Washington for $22,205, and was not completed on time. This work was finished in April, 1896. On May 28, 1892, Staples Bros., were given the contract to construct the superstructure, the same to be completed 15 months from the date of awarding the contract. But this was not done owing to the delay experienced by the non-completion on time of the work on the basement, and also because of the failure to secure laborers during the strike of the bricklayers. Staples Bros., however, completed their work, Jan. 3, 1894, and received $79,024.50. The contract for interior finish was awarded to E. Earnshaw & Son of Chicago, for $36,700, and the work was completed Nov. 20, 1894.

Several Lowell firms wanted to do the plumbing in the new building, but were under bid by the Dalton company of Chicago, whose figures were $4498. A time limit of 100 working days was placed on this contract, but it was not completed on time.

Farrell & Conaton proved close figurers and for having a sharp point on their pencil they were allowed to put in the heating and ventilating apparatus, at a cost of $6,800. The great bell and the clock in the tower were put in place by the E. Howard Watch & Clock company., at a cost of $1823.05. The marble used for the wainscotting, tiles, and base in the corridors and in the toilet rooms was supplied by the Barney Marble company of Swanton, Vt. The Ho'n Manufacturing company of St. Paul, Minn., laid the oak finish and maple flooring, and John Booth of Chicago, Ill., furnished and placed in position the iron stairs.

The other contracts which were of minor importance were: glass, C. B. Coburn of this city; hardware to the Yale & Towne company.

The wainscotting and tiles in the first floor are of marble; in the second story the wainscotting is of panelled wood, the tiles of marble, and the flooring of maple. The trimmings throughout the building are of oxydized silver.

In the office there are 700 small letter boxes, 130 large letter boxes, 42 lock drawers, 4 local letter drops, 4 letter drops, 2 paper drops and one package drop.

A new departure and a valuable addition to the local post office department is the six inspector lookouts placed in different parts of the building and commanding a view of the entire work room. They are fitted with registers so that a person can unobserved take in whatever is transpiring in the work room.

It is not expected that the building will be all ready for occupancy before February 15 as the transom rods, door holders, door stops, screens and double acting doors in the money order department have not yet been placed in position.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Had An Idea of Sending a Petition to the Legislature.

Aldermen Varnum offered a solution which did not solve, at the meeting of the aldermen last evening.

After the council had labored in vain, the night preceding to choose a head, the wily Ward Two alderman thought to break the deadlock by asking the board to apply to the legislature for right to break the deadlock by the election of an additional councilman. He with his republican confreres saw something in such a move and of couse they all favored it.

But the lone democrat Alderman Dow could discern nothing advantageous in such a move. He said that the board should go ahead and transact its own business and ballot for such city officials as are dependent on concurrent vote.

No definite action was taken on the proposition of "Daniel the diplomat."

Mayor Courtney appointed William Miles a constable.

The board then adjourned till next Tuesday evening.

Tuberculin Test Was Proved.

Farmers and town officials at Westford are satisfied that tuberculin is a good test in cattle. A cow owned by Charles F. Trott has had the appearance of suffering from tuberculosis and George T. Day, the local inspector, said the animal was afflicted with the disease. The tuberculin test was applied by an agent of the state cattle commissioners and the animal pronounced sound.

This did not satisfy the farmers and others, and Capt. Sherman H. Fletcher, as chairman of the board of selectmen, applied to the state cattle commissioners to allow the cow to be killed under inspection of their agent.

This was done today and the examination showed that the tuberculin test was correct.
